U.S. Seizes Communist Property

'Worker' Grabbed For Back Taxes

NEW YORK (AP)—U.S. Treasury agents swooped down on Communist property across the United States today and seized it for alleged tax delinquency.

The agents acted simultaneously in a number of cities.

In New York, they took over Communist party headquarters and the plant of the party newspaper, The Daily Worker, a treasury spokesman said.

The agents struck also in Philadelphia, Detroit and Chicago.

The action was requested here by Donald Moysey, director of internal revenue for the Lower Manhattan district. He said the party's taxes are owed in this district because the party's national headquarters are here.

He said he did not know immediately the total over-all tax delinquency.

New Report Investigated In Jet Hunt

CAMPBELL RIVER—Checks are being made today on reports that a jet aircraft was seen Thursday over Desolation sound, heading northeast to Homfray channel and Mount Grazebrooke, 22 to 25 miles northeast of Cortes island.

Cortes island, 15 miles east of Campbell River, has been the scene of a search since Thursday noon for an RCAF jet training aircraft missing from Comox air base. (See earlier story, page 14.)

SOVIETS UNVEIL NEW ARMS-CUT SCHEME

LONDON (AP) — Russia today offered a new disarmament plan which Western observers said appears to be a "serious" contribution to the quest for East-West disarmament agreement.

They added that the long and thorough plan did not look like "a propaganda ruse." Its terms were not disclosed, however.

Reuters reported that Russia "astonished the Western powers" by putting forward a plan concerned only with the reduction of "conventional" armaments and containing no proposals for the elimination of atomic weapons.

Russians Stall Mid-East Plan

Combine With Arabs to Block Peace Try by Security Council

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP) — A Russian-Arab power play today hamstrung the United Nations Security Council's efforts to head off a Middle East war.

Russia effectively blocked a United States proposal for immediate action by the security council, and an Arab spokesman said a move would be made to transfer the whole problem to the general assembly.

A dispatch from Damascus quoted Syrian Premier Said Al Gazzi as saying Syria opposed the U.S. resolution . . . and demands the American proposal be laid before the United Nations General Assembly for debating and voting."

WAR THREAT

Gazzi warned further that any foreign military intervention in the Middle East would lead to "war probably exceeding Middle East boundaries."

The council disregarded a warning from U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., Monday that the Palestine situation "has never been more serious."

It adjourned until Wednesday with a stipulation demanded by Russia that a vote to authorize a trip by Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold to the Middle East would not be taken at least until next Tuesday.

Hammarskjold had planned to leave April 2 if the council had approved the American resolution. Lodge deplored the delay.

Israel's Arab neighbors—Egypt, Syria, Jordan and Lebanon—made it clear that they had sought a delay.

Representatives of Israel and the four Arab nations were invited to attend the council debate Monday but were not asked to speak. The delaying action was left to Russia's Arkady A Sobolev.

Anti-Stalin Policy Upheld By Mikoyan

NEW DELHI (AP) — A. I. Mikoyan, deputy premier of the Soviet Union, asserted today that the present Soviet regime's criticism of Stalin will strengthen the Soviet Communist party and assure its future success.

Mikoyan made the statement to newspaper men at a Soviet embassy receptio in his honor. He is visiting India to confer with Prime Minister Nehru and other government officials.

He said there is no intention by the Soviet regime to revise its judgment of Leon Trotsky, who was denounced as a traitor and was murdered in exile. Some sources have speculated that the current denunciations of Stalin, his arch rival in the 1920s, would result in a rehabilitation of Trotsky as a Soviet hero.

He conceded there had been opposition within his country after he and party secretary Nikita Khrushchev criticized Stalin at the Communist party congress in Moscow last month.

"However," he added, "there was no unrest. Some there just took it hard. But the great mass accepted it."

NORTH AMERICAN TALKS START

Canada Offers New Plan To Check on Soviet Aid

EISENHOWER ST. LAURENT RUIZ CORTINES

. . "Good Neighbor" Conference, first in North American history, brought together today the leaders of U.S., Canada and Mexico to "swap ideas" on hemispheric and world affairs at informal "family get-together."

Exchange Full Data On What Being Done Pearson Proposes

By GEORGE KITCHEN, Canadian Press Staff Writer

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W.Va. (CP)—Canada proposed today that the Western world consider exchanging with the Soviet Union "blueprints" of economic aid to underprivileged countries.

External Affairs Minister Pearson made this suggestion at the first session of the continental conference among the heads of government of Canada, the United States and Mexico and suggested it would provide more effective economic aid and, perhaps, call the Soviet "bluff" that it was prepared to provide assistance to India and other countries.

A conference spokesman said the Pearson proposal would be, in a sense, an extension of the U.S. offer to exchange military "blueprints" with Russia as a means of achieving disarmament. In this case, foreign aid proposals would be exchanged, though not with any idea of setting up a joint West-East program.

The Soviets would be told, in effect, "to put up or shut up," R. A. Farquharson, counsellor at the Canadian embassy in Washington, informed a press briefing.

NO SPECIFIC REACTION

There was no specific reaction from the American and Mexican delegations at the three - power meeting, headed by President Eisenhower, Prime Minister St. Laurent and President Adolph Ruiz Cortines. The three chiefs of state are accompanied by their foreign secretaries and other advisers.

White House press secretary James Hagerty said the general underlying sense of the session was that the three North American neighbors must work together in offering moral and economic assistance to newer countries, such as India, Pakistan and Indonesia, who just now were getting on their own feet as independent nations. Otherwise, they would leave the way open for the Communists to move in.

Eisenhower and State Secretary Dulles suggested that smaller nations, such as Canada and Mexico, are in a better position to assist newer nations since a big power like the United States often is suspected of having motives when it offers aid.

REPORTS ON FAR EAST

The two - hour session included a general review of the world situation, with Dulles giving a report of his recent visit to the Far East.

When the meeting broke up, the three leaders went into luncheon with their foreign ministers.

Eisenhower meets separately this afternoon with the Canadian leader and Ruiz Cortines. Any continental problems in the minds of the three heads of government are expected to come up in those sessions.

Tonight, Eisenhower will entertain the full delegations of Canada and Mexico at dinner, the last formal meeting before the three leaders return to their respective capitals Wednesday morning.

HOLD WARMUP

The three leaders arrived here Monday and had a warmup get-together in the evening at dinner in Eisenhower's quarters. In its informal, relaxed atmosphere, Eisenhower was in a reminiscent mood and carried the conversational ball, telling stories of his wartime experiences. Informal toasts were exchanged.

It was the first time the Canadian leader and Ruiz Cortines had met.

The guest list included State Secretary Dulles, External Affairs Minister Pearson and Foreign Minister Luis Padilla Nervo of Mexico and other members of the delegations of the three countries.

With officials insisting the conference is designed solely to enable the three leaders to get to know one another better, the nearly 200 newspaper men gathered here for the parley were hard put to find a "sleeper" in the reasons for it. There is no formal agenda.

MID-EAST QUESTION

The Canadian viewpoint is that the meetings gives the Canadians and Mexicans an excellent opportunity to obtain from Eisenhower and Dulles a first-hand run-down of American opinion and American policy on outstanding world problems.

Canada is particularly interested in the U.S. view on the possibility of working out a political settlement in the troubled Middle East. The Canadians also would like to know how Eisenhower and Dulles feel about bringing Russia into such a settlement.

The prime minister is understood to have come here well briefed by his cabinet heads on any problem that might arise during the discussions, but has no specific questions to bring up.

IRKS DOCTORS

Mrs. Lydia Arsens today came under the fire of Canadian Medical Association's B.C. president, Dr. E. W. Boak. The Victoria surgeon flatly denied statements made in Vancouver by the city Socred MLA. Mrs. Arsens said some doctors accept her "cancer cure"—but are afraid to say so publicly because they "must take orders from the top (American Medical Association)—or lose their certificates." (See page 2.)

Saanich Gravel Pit Lacked Supervision, Probers Find

A special investigating committee reported to Saanich council Monday there was "ample evidence" of the lack of supervisory control in the operation of a municipal-owned gravel pit on Sayward road.

The committee appointed by the council to investigate charges of maladministration in the operation of the excavation said the municipality failed to "keep accurate records" of gravel transactions.

In some cases, the committee reported there were no records kept of any gravel dug from the pit and sold to outside persons and firms.

The committee, however, reported there was "no evidence of unlawful removal of gravel from the pit."

Commenting on the committee's report, Reeve Arthur Ash said Saanich will never know whether there was gravel taken from the pit unlawfully because there were no records to show the amount of gravel taken from the excavation.

The committee blamed the existence of a system of gentlemen's agreement for the lack of proper control over pit operations.

This system of gentlemen's agreement was carried on between the municipality and outside firms, including the provincial government, the report said.

The committee's report brought to an end a stormy controversy over the operation of the gravel pit, started last November by Robert Fleming, a former Saanich councillor, who charged mismanagement in the operation of the pit.

Mr. Fleming resigned his office as councillor because the old council refused to take steps to institute a business-like method of managing the pit operation.

Mr. Fleming said today he was satisfied with the committee's report.

"It substantiates my claim there was lack of control in the operation of the pit," he said.

Mr. Fleming said he estimated that around 200,000 yards of gravel taken from the pit was

NEW HIGH AT TORONTO FOR INDUSTRIAL SHARES

Paced by spectacular gains in high-priced issues the industrial index hit an all-time high of 479.71 near the close of today's Toronto stock market session. This was a gain of 2.63 on the previous close.

But profit-taking in the last hour dropped the index back to 478.57, up 1.49 on the day.

Other sections also showed gains. Western oils were at about their highest value in four years, and uraniums and coppers were in demand.

Best gains in industrials were MacLaren, up $10 at $100; Stelco, up $6 at $79; Supertest common, up $7.25 at $50, and International Paper, ahead $4.50 at $129.

Details of activities in all markets are on Page 10.

DONATION SOUGHT

Government Help Asked for Big Swim

The provincial government will be asked to make a donation toward swim attempts on the Strait of Juan de Fuca this summer.

This decision was reached Monday by the swim committee of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, which started a campaign among city businessmen today to raise $15,000 to attract the world's top swimmers.

The chamber wants a "gala splash" mass swim on the strait, or a match race between Cliff Lumsdon, Canada's champion marathon swimmer, and Bert Thomas, only man to beat the turbulent waters between here and Port Angeles.

BILL DAVISON
. . . asks government swim help

MONEY QUESTION

Cliff Lumsdon told The Times from New Toronto today: "Favorably inclined toward match race only with Thomas providing amount (of money) is stipulated and guaranteed."

He's willing to come providing the swim date, tentatively set for the last two weeks of August or first two weeks in September, doesn't conflict with the Atlantic City swim July 25. He wants at least two weeks between attempts.

Thomas has already accepted the challenge by Lumsdon to a cross-strait race.

SHOW SINCERITY

Chamber swim committee chairman Bill Davison at Monday's meeting asked the provincial government to "show its sincerity" following statements by Premier Bennett that he would like to spend $10,000,000 on Victoria for beautification and publicity.

Chamber president Stickney Harris termed the pending move "an excellent opportunity" for the government to implement the premier's plan.

Next move by the Jaycees will be to approach Lumsdon's coach, Gus Ryder, and ask what is wanted as a guarantee. Ryder said earlier in Toronto a minimum of $10,000 would be asked before Lumsdon came out here.

The swim committee of the chamber has written the London Daily Mail asking methods that paper uses in sponsoring English Channel swims.

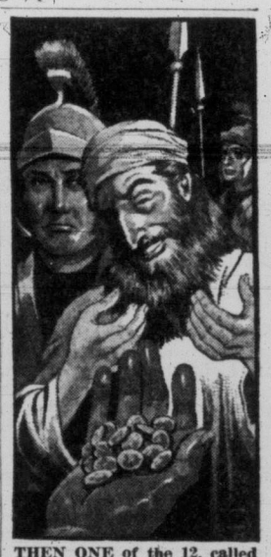
According to present Jaycee plans, solo swimmers will get exercise only out of strait attempts. There'll be no money for them under chamber sponsorship. Envisioned is either a match race between Thomas and Lumsdon, or a mass swim attempt by all interested parties.

Apartheid Vital Says Commission

CAPETOWN (Reuters) — A government-appointed commission reported to Parliament today that South Africa must strive for the separate development of white and native communities to eliminate the possibility of racial conflict and to maintain racial harmony.

The commission, reporting after five years' study of the development of African areas within South Africa, said the only obvious way out of the dilemma facing the country lies in the sustained development of African areas on a large scale.

It was convinced there was no middle way between ultimate total integration and ultimate separate development of the two groups.



THEN ONE of the 12, called Judas Iscariot, went unto the chief priests, and said unto them, what will ye give me, and I will deliver him unto you? And they covenanted with him for 30 pieces of silver.—Mat. 26: 14-15.

PRAYER FOR TODAY

O GOD, search our inmost thoughts in the light of Thy mind and will. In times of weakness hold us to our highest and best. Face our consciences with the beauty and appeal of Christ, who trod fearlessly for us. Amen.

23 PASSENGERS BANGED ABOUT

British Airliner Dives to Miss Jet

LONDON (UP)—Nearly half the 23 persons aboard were injured today when an airliner was forced to dive violently to avoid an air collision with a jet fighter.

The sharp dive sent the unbelted passengers soaring out of their seats. They banged against windows and ceiling like chaff in a wind. But none suffered anything more serious than minor cuts and bruises.

They were saved from death by the abrupt dive made by the pilot, Capt. F. Jenkinson.

A British European Airways spokesman said Jenkinson was flying the twin-engined Elizabethan airliner at a height of 9,500 feet over Daventry in Warwickshire when he saw a RAF Vampire jet "right on top of him."

"Jenkinson took immediate evasive action," the spokesman said. "He shot the nose down. It was a very near miss."

The shocked and shaken passengers got back into their seats and Jenkinson landed the undamaged airliner safely at London airport.

There were six crew members, in addition to the 23 passengers, aboard on the flight from Belfast to London.

One passenger, W. Lennox, said: "The jet couldn't have missed us by very much. I thought we had grazed it. My knees are still shaking."

Tom Hewlitt, another passenger, echoed this view.

"We were all scared," he said.

The BEA spokesman said Jenkinson thought the encounter was an accidental brush, and did not think the RAF jet was buzzing the airliner. However, the air ministry investigated the incident.

SEES RABBIE'S BIRTHPLACE

Georgi Sings Auld Lang Syne On Long-Awaited Visit to Ayr

GLASGOW (Reuters) — Russia's Georgi Malenkov, travelling the high roads and low roads of Scotland at speeds up to 70 miles an hour, snatched time today to realize a life-long ambition and visit the birthplace of poet Robert Burns.

His pilgrimage to the humble cottage where Scotland's warm-hearted bard was born in 1759 was no mere gesture.

Malenkov quoted Burns in Russian, listened to long quotations in lilting Gaelic, and then joined hands with thatchers who had been repairing the roof to sing a verse of the classic Auld Lang Syne.

The Russia's minister of power stations raced off by car to catch up with his official program.

Wednesday he leaves the delegation of electrical experts which he has been leading through Britain for almost two weeks, and returns to London. He has offered no reason for cutting short his scheduled tour by a week.

"This is one of my life's ambitions fulfilled," he said today when he arrived at the little cottage where Burns slept as a boy in what amounted to a hole in the wall.

When he left, he pointed to a television aerial above the cottage museum and said: "I wonder what Rabbie would have thought of that."

As Mrs. Arsens sez, we should end our illnesses by natural means. An' whut ends 'em better an' more naturally than dyin'?

Higher-Ups Silence Doctors On Cancer Cure, Mrs. Arsens Says

VANCOUVER (CP) — Mrs. Lydia Arsens, Social Credit MLA for Victoria, said in an address here Monday night that cancer sufferers have been "blindfolded and led down the path to an early death by medical practitioners."

Speaking to 750 persons at the Pure Food Guild here, she said such doctors "do not believe in the no-carving-no-suffering treatment."

Mrs. Arsens, who has made the claim in the legislature that a painless cancer cure exists, asked the audience to "flood the Parliament Buildings with mail, requesting the government set up clinics in British Columbia similar to the Hoxsey Cancer Clinic and the Spears Chiropractic Sanatorium."

"I am not condemning physicians and surgeons," she said.

"But there exists in the medical profession a stubbornness, a terrible barrier, a dictatorship from the top which prevents doctors from turning cancer suffers to naturopaths and chiropractors.

"These doctors have to take orders from the top or they will lose their certificates."

She cited the case of her own family doctor.

HANDS ARE TIED

"He approves of these clinics but he can't say anything. His hands are tied. He knows if he speaks he will lose his licence and his livelihood."

"Why, if the medical profession is performing such wonderful work, are we getting sicker?

"Is the medical profession so close-minded it can only cure with drugs and surgery? I think so and I'd like to know who the quacks are," she said.

"There's nothing doctors can do. Pressure is put on them at the top—the American Medical Association."

Fear of pressure she said was the reason "Dr. Larry Giovando attacked my remarks in the House on a cure for cancer."

"He knew if he didn't refute my remarks the authorities would scorch him."

Dr. Giovando, independent member for Nanaimo-The Islands, said Mrs. Arsens' remarks were "extremely dangerous."

Edward Moxey, herbalist, told the audience that sale of foods lacking vitamin A has resulted in, among other things, "increased swelling of the eyelids, swelling of the eye-balls and is an aid to Communism."

CANCER RESEARCH FUND BOOSTED TO $75,000

VANCOUVER (CP)—Cancer research expenditure in B.C. will be increased in 1956 to $75,000—biggest in the province's history—Jack Diamond, chairman of the Conquer Cancer Campaign, announced today.

Grants will be made to the B.C. Division, Canadian Cancer Society, and the B.C. Cancer Foundation.

The Conquer Cancer Drive, to raise $200,000 throughout B.C., will start April 2.

Research expenditures in 1955 totalled $62,724—most of it spent at UBC, the B.C. Medical Research Institute, B.C. Cancer Institute and leading B.C. hospitals.

Doctors Flatly Deny City MLA's Charges

The medical profession today answered claims about cancer cures made Monday by Mrs. Lydia Arsens with a flat denial that:

1. Anyone has yet found the cause of cancer.
2. There is a cure for cancer effective in all cases.
3. The medical profession is influenced in any way by anyone "higher up."

Speaking officially for the B.C. division of the Canadian Medical Association, Dr. E. W. Boak, Victoria, president, said:

"I have read reports of Mrs. Arsens' statements when addressing the Pure Food Guild meeting in Vancouver Monday.

"In the opinion of the medical profession, these statements are not true. All physicians are trained to apply methods of diagnosis and treatment resulting from scientific research into the cause of cancer and its effectual control.

"No one yet has found the cause of cancer nor a method of curing all cases.

NO "ORDERS FROM TOP"

"In regard to the statement 'these doctors have to take orders from the top or they will lose their certificates and pressure is put on them at the top—the American Medical Association—' this is not true.

"No doctor in Canada is under the jurisdiction of the American Medical Association, nor is he directed by anyone 'higher up'.

"Millions are being spent for scientific research, which is being continually directed toward better methods of treatment of malignancy and its cause, and control will eventually be found."

. . . GRAVEL

"not accounted" for by the municipality.

"I agree with Reeve Ash that we will never know how much gravel was taken from the pit and where it went to as there were no records kept," he said.

He added that he never made the charge that gravel was taken unlawfully. "My point was that Saanich could not account for gravel taken from the excavation," he said.

The committee composed of Councillors George Austin, Ronald Grant and T. J. O'Neil, recommended that "all existing gentlemen's agreements" be cancelled immediately.

Other recommendations were:

1. All future dealings with gravel produced from the municipal pit, when such dealings involved outside firms, to be put in writing.

2. Proper and accurate records to be kept of all gravel from the municipal pit, whether for municipal use or otherwise.

3. Access to the pit be controlled by gates or fences.

4. The present pit be retained by the municipality.

Coun. Passmore said the chief engineer, H. D. Dawson, should be exonerated of any charges of laxity because the responsibility lay with the old council of which he (Mr. Passmore) admitted he was a member.

"I agree wholeheartedly that in handling municipal property we should lean over backward to have everything properly recorded," he added.

Emphasis On A-War Criticized

OTTAWA (CP) — Maj.-Gen. W. H. S. Macklin, retired adjutant general, said Monday night there is too much emphasis on nuclear warfare in Canada's defence preparations.

"Several hundred million dollars a year are being sunk into a static army which is useless in any other type of war except a nuclear one," he told a meeting of the Royal Canadian Ordnance Association.

"We've got to get our eye on the whole of the battlefield instead of just one part of it," he added.

In answer to a question, Gen. Macklin said he fully supports the opinion of Lt.-Gen. Guy Simmonds, former chief of staff, that Canada needs conscription.

In a recent series of public addresses, Gen. Simmonds has repeatedly said conscription is needed in Canada.

Lawyer Stole $27,542

TORONTO (CP) — Former lawyer Leo George Hilts, 47, Monday pleaded guilty to stealing $27,542 from the estate of two elderly women who had saved the money for their old age.

He was remanded to next Tuesday for sentence.

Defence counsel J. J. Robinette said Hilts could not make restitution but that the women, Mrs. Edith Saunders, 68, of Toronto, and Mrs. Mollie Parker, 75, of Connecticut, could apply to the Law Society for compensation.

PLAQUE FOR MARILYN

TORONTO (CP) — Marilyn Bell, 18-year-old long-distance swimmer, Monday was presented in the Ontario legislature with a bronze plaque commemorating her swim across Lake Ontario in 1954.

The three-by-four-foot plaque, engraved with a picture of Marilyn stroking through the water, will be mounted on the Ontario building in the Canadian National Exhibition grounds, near the spot where she touched shore after her record swim.

'HAVEN'T DRUNK 'POP IN YEARS'

Ike Jokes Over 'Poisoned' Drink

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W.Va. (AP)—Declaring "I have not drunk 'pop' in years," President Eisenhower joked today about the question of whether anyone put "poisoned" ginger ale aboard a private railroad car he later used.

Even though the president took the incident in a light vein, secret service agents and railroad investigators were pressing an inquiry into the illness of three persons who drank the ginger ale.

Secret service chief U. E. Baughman said "it may take three or four days to run this thing to earth."

Eisenhower's reaction to the matter was given to reporters by Walter Tuohy, president of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad.

Tuohy had breakfast with Eisenhower, and said the president laughed about the episode. He quoted Eisenhower as saying: "They are making a great to-do about this ginger ale business."

Tuohy said Eisenhower asked with a laugh: "Who are they trying to get—you or me? It must be you. You are the 'pop' drinker. I haven't drunk pop in years."

Ornithologist Does Slow Burn Over Winnipeg's Talking Crow

By A. M. THOMAS

"Talking crow — talking schmo" says Cecil C. Hyndman, 1848 West Burnside. "It's nothing but anthropomorphism."

To be truthful, those were not Mr. Hyndman's exact words but they express exactly what he felt Monday night when, by telephone to The Times he unburdened his ornithologist's soul on the subject of Klaus, Winnipeg's nationally famous talking crow.

Klaus, according to the Canadian Press, has been raising right smart Sam in the St. James district of Winnipeg since he escaped from the home of his owner, Mrs. Edith Rasmussen about two weeks ago.

SWAGGERING

The CP reports have it that Klaus has been swaggering around raffishly, cursing innocent bystanders, singing a popular song about a doggie and answering questions to the effect that he wouldn't go home—not yet anyway.

Victoria's Mr. Hyndman has been developing a slow burn ever since those reports started.

He is something of an authority on the speech habits of birds, having been teaching them for the last 11 years and having won recognition for his work from the National Film Board, radio networks and other media of far-flung communication. His house, one gathers, is chock-a-block with tape recordings of bird speech and laughter, to say nothing of the birds themselves.

To quote Mr. Hyndman, somewhat loosely:

Mynah birds? yes. Budgies? yes. Parrots? yes, they'll talk a blue streak—but crows, NO.

Six words is their limit and there's a catch even, to that. They forget what they learn as fast as they pick it up and by the time they've glommed on to their sixth word they've lost the first two or three.

Moreover, they never, never answer questions such as:

Q. Klaus, when are you going home?

A. Not yet.

(The staid Canadian Press quoted just such a dialogue).

Some birds (Hyndman still talking), mynahs for example, can be taught to say certain words and, when asked questions to which those words could be a plausible answer, will respond; but neither the mynah, nor any other bird, knows what those words mean except by a vague association of ideas and sounds.

RAPPED

He says the right words, he gets a grape—he says the wrong ones, or clams up, and he gets a rap over the knuckles or the equivalent thereof.

Mr. Hyndman who has been working with five species of birds including ravens, golden eagles, great horned and screech owls besides those already named, is inclined to think those stories about Klaus are "perhaps exaggerated."

In view of the fact that since Klaus did return home and since he has said not one word, perhaps Mr. Hyndman has something.

Announce New Way To Shrink Painful Piles

Science Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain. Thousands have been relieved—without resort to surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne*)—the discovery of a famous scientific institute. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called *Preparation H. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

B.C. Fishmen to Tour Russia If Red Group Can't Get Here

(From the Canadian Press)

VANCOUVER — A trip to Russia by a delegation of British Columbia fishermen was authorized here during the weekend by the annual convention of the United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union (Ind.).

The trip will be made if two Russian union delegates, invited here by the UFAWU, do not arrive. Their visas were held up for lack of sufficient information.

The B.C. fishermen's union was ousted from the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada for alleged Communist leadership.

In other business, the convention condemned a "form of discrimination" by canneries setting up three grades of accommodation for Chinese, Indian and white workers.

DEPORTATION QUASHED

The application was refused by immigration authorities and a deportation order followed.

IN PARLIAMENT

CCF Lashes Out At Divorce Actions

(From Times News Services)

Parliament's handling of divorce cases has come under another round of CCF criticism during an unsuccessful attempt by that party to defeat two divorce bills.

Erhart Regier (CCF, Burnaby-Coquitlam) Monday accused the Liberals of using a "steam-roller vote" to pass divorce measures.

The government seemed to regard a vote on a divorce bill as a question of non-confidence, accepting any divorce petition that had passed the senate.

He spoke after the House, on a vote forced by the CCF, had given final approval to one divorce bill from Quebec and before another vote gave passage to a Newfoundland divorce bill.

On both votes—58 to 36 on the first, 59 to 29 on the second—all the Liberals present voted for the bills while CCF members were solidly opposed. The Progressive Conservative and Social Credit parties split.

The members also dealt with a variety of matters: an opposition member's proposal for a Great Lakes coast guard; extension of the time limit for building a rail line in northern Quebec, and a loan company's request to change its name.

Budget Debate Resumes Today

Today the House resumes debate on the budget presented last Tuesday by Finance Minister Harris. The budget debate will continue for two days before the House adjourns for Easter until April 9.

The Great Lakes coast guard proposal was advanced by Wallace Nesbitt (PC, Oxford), who suggested a federal service to co-ordinate existing search and rescue efforts on Lakes Ontario, Erie, St. Clair and Huron.

Conservatives oposed a private bill to give a 10-year extension from May, 1957, in time for the Quebec North Shore and Labrador Railway Co. to complete its rail line from the iron ore fields at Knob Lake, Que., to Ungava Bay. Their amendment was defeated and the bill passed.

Another bill to change the name of the Personal Finance Co. to the Benficial Finance Co. made no progress following critical speeches by CCF and Social Credit members.

Hazen Argue (CCF-Assiniboia) described the small loans business as "legalized robbery." Small loans companies were "parasites" and the change in name would be misleading.

He said the small loans companies have paid huge sums in misleading advertising campaigns. Personal Finance was a bad offender, having published misleading pamphlets.

He said another finance company, Niagara Finance Corporation Ltd., had published a pamphlet which was an attack on members of Parliament for being critical on small loans firms.

Before debate was adjourned, Owen L. Jones (CCF-Okanagan-Boundary) and Victor Quelch (SC-Acadia) added their support to the CCF leader's amendment to block the bill.

There is little hope of wider tax deductions for medical expenses when Canadians fill up their next income tax returns, Finance Minister Walter Harris indicated Monday.

Stanley Knowles (CCF-Winnipeg North Centre) asked Harris if he was going to lower the three per cent floor above which medical expenses must run before deduction.

Harris said he had "nothing to add to what I said in my budget speech."

"But you didn't say anything about that," Knowles retorted.

The Federal District Commission today unveiled plans to spend $69,000,000 in Ottawa's national capital plan during the next 10 years and asked more money and more authority to carry them out.

In a 100-page brief to a joint Senate-Commons committee the FDC warned that uncontrolled subdivision is putting in jeopardy the proposed "green-belt"—a lightly populated open area around the capital.

It sought authority to spend some $15,000,000 to $20,000,000 to buy land now in the green belt area to be held for plan use and for resale. This would provide adequate land reserves for the next 100 years.

Presidential Paradox

THE POSITION OF MR. EISENhower today, as many American newspapers observe, has produced a curious paradox. The President is at the peak of an unprecendented popularity at the very moment when the policies of his Government are under heaviest attack.

In such papers as The Washington Post, The New York Times, the New York Herald Tribune and The New York World-Telegraph, that differ on most questions of policy, a chorus of protest has lately risen against the failures and blunders of the administration's foreign policy. Mr. Walter Lippmann expresses a pretty general view when he says "our diplomacy is almost everywhere fighting rear-guard actions."

Yet the President's popularity cannot be doubted. As The Washington Post remarks: "If it were merely a question of personal popularity, Mr. Eisenhower might now be elected by acclamation."

Of course it is much more than a question of personal popularity. The future of the free world may well depend upon the man who is elected President next November and Mr. Eisenhower is probably that man.

What is the explanation of the wide gap between the President and his policies? Mr. William V. Shannon, Washington correspondent of The New York Post seems to have the answer.

"Mr. Eisenhower," he writes in a magazine of comment The Commonweal, "was elected, in large part, because the nation in 1952 did not want to face up to the rigors of world responsibility. The American people were weary of the Korean war, high taxes, an unbalanced budget, creeping inflation and long tours of duty in the draft army."

Mr. Eisenhower faithfully fulfilled his promise to give the nation a breathing spell of retrenchment and relaxation. As a result, Mr. Shannon observes, "we are in a crisis but we do not act as if we were."

If there is a crisis—and events announce it in many places—the immediate question is whether Mr. Eisenhower can change the relaxed and agreeable policies of his first term into stronger policies during his second.

The easy answer to that question, now voiced by the President's critics, is that after a heart attack he certainly will not be more vigorous than in his days of perfect health. Such an answer may be too easy.

Mr. Eisenhower has shown, through a career of almost perpetual adventure, a capacity to meet crises as they arise. The American people have shown the same capacity.

If the President and people can be convinced that they are indeed facing a new crisis, that the relaxed policies of the last three years, at home and abroad, are no longer adequate and are, indeed dangerous, then a change of direction in American affairs may be expected.

But if that change is coming, will it come soon enough? World conditions, especially in the Near East, suggest that American policy is working under a deadline abroad when, at home, every politician is tempted to watch only the deadline of the election.

At such a time it is extremely difficult for any presidential candidate to offer stern policies even if they are desperately required, lest he alienate votes. In an election year unpopular issues are customarily blurred and blunted.

Mr. Eisenhower's popularity is such, however, that he could change his policies without endangering his re-election. A word from him could end the period of relaxation which is communism's secret weapon.

He has not yet said that word.

Hitting the Sports Fisherman

ACCORDING TO ESTIMATES made by fisheries authorities, sports fishermen catch roughly 1 per cent of all salmon—springs, cohoes, sockeye, chums and pinks—caught in B.C. waters.

That is a negligible fraction of the number of fish killed between the time they descend the rivers as fingerlings from the spawning grounds and the time survivors return to the mouths of their natal streams.

By the time a run of fish, having been in salt water for some time, gets back to the enclosed waters between Johnstone Strait and the section of Juan de Fuca extending as far as Sooke, only about 5 per cent of the original hatch has survived. Probably half of that is caught by commercial and sports fishermen.

The figures become more impressive when the catch in those waters is broken down between sports and commercial fishermen.

Sportsmen take only 1 per cent of all species—on the basis of 1955 figures—but they take about 6 per cent of the total spring, cohoe and grilse catch. And in the enclosed waters, the number of these species taken by anglers rises to between one-third and one-half of all fish caught.

By weight, the sportsmen take less, since they catch more small fish, including grilse, than do commercial fishermen.

In the complete life-cycle of the salmon, the sports fisherman is a very inconsequential menace. True, he does hit the run at a time when the adults of the species are making their ways to the spawning grounds. But if 2 per cent of the original hatch makes the return to spawning grounds successfully, the run is maintained. If more than 2 per cent propogates, the run builds up. And the sports fisherman, it should be remembered, has virtually no effect on any fish but springs or cohoes.

These are some of the biological facts against which to weigh the proposed reduction in the daily limit allowed the sports fisherman. By recent announcement, that limit is to be reduced to four salmon and four grilse, or not more than eight fish, of which no more than four shall be salmon. This is a reduction from former regulations permitting the sports fisherman to take five salmon and five grilse or a total of 10 fish, not more than five of them salmon.

Whatever may be the justification for cutting the limit, several factors must be considered.

In the first place enforcement is a matter of major importance. How, without vastly increasing the number of officials covering hundreds of miles of territory, can the authorities prevent an angler so inclined from taking more than his limit? Or worse still, how can the authorities stop the fisherman with a flexible conscience from throwing back the dead small ones when he catches bigger replacements?

More to the point: What will the reduction of limits do to the pastime of sports fishing which is becoming increasingly important business in this region?

According to reports from California, sports fishermen there are spending roughly four times as much per pound for fish they catch than commercial fishermen receive for their hauls. A similar trend is noticeable in Puget Sound.

Unquestionably the Victoria or southern Vancouver Island angler spends far more, on average, for his catch than he would pay for it over the fishmonger's counter. Is it good business to cut down on this spending?

Perhaps the authorities might take another look at the situation from an economic as well as a biological point of view. The angler takes only 1 per cent of the total catch of B.C. salmon, though he admittedly reels in more of the cohoes and springs in the inside waters of Vancouver Island. Should his sport be reduced on those lucky occasions when he can catch his old limit? Certainly he won't be doing that every day.

He Should Have Stayed Home

THE BRITISH PRESS HAS very rightly been roused to anger by the Kremlin's action in sending over General Ivan Serov, head of the Soviet secret police, to make arrangements for next month's state visit.

As the successor of Beria, and one who has played a leading part in mass arrests, deportations, purges and slave labor camps, Gen. Serov was an incredibly poor choice for advance man of the forthcoming Khrushchev show.

Britain throughout history has been a haven for political refugees. Today the island harbors thousands who fled to escape communism, many of whom have left relatives and friends in Soviet concentration camps. For such a man as Gen. Serov now to be strutting and smiling in London's streets is alike an affront to the refugees and those who gave them refuge.

If the purpose of the Khrushchev visit is to improve relations between Britain and Russia then the opening gambit has been badly planned, even for the customarily heavy-handed Soviet diplomats.

When Good Fellows Get Together

LOOSE ENDS — By BRUCE HUTCHISON

Return of the Native

FOR some weeks this column has been absent from its accustomed place but I am not aware that anybody has noted its absence. If I were to tell you where I have been lately and what I have seen you wouldn't believe it. Suffice it to say that nothing outside Victoria is much good. The weather in eastern Canada and the United States was no good at all. The flowers were confined to greenhouses at many dollars per dozen. The food was indifferent. Even the New York plays were disappointing. And therefore, though it compels a return to work, I am glad to be home again.

Hutchison

THIS is exactly the right time to come home. My timing, though accidental, is perfect. As everybody says, Victoria reaches perfection, or the edge of perfection, at this time of year, and that statement has the added advantage of being true.

The brief gold of the crocus is just melting now, the more durable chalices of the daffodil are opening, the wild currants are wearing their ruby earrings and, they tell me, the sea serpent has arrived in the nick of time with the only reliable announcement of spring.

Moreover, there is a singing in the air, a native song. I am not referring to the song of birds though it is pleasant enough, but to the sweeter song of frogs.

THIS was more than I expected, since human progress, in the form of swelling subdivisions and proliferating bungaloid growths of identical design, has begun to drain all the swamps hereabout and leave their ancient residents high and dry.

But to the delight of ears long dulled by the traffic of New York and other civilized abominations the frogs are still singing somehow in their shrunken residence. I say singing because it would be a slander indeed to call this noble Canadian sound a croak. The croak will be found in this column, not in the swamp.

The frogs are singing their immemorial nocturne here on the Pacific coast already and no doubt will undertake their grand national tour across Canada without delay. Spring will come at last even to the interior, where the unhappy aborigines are presently digging themselves out of the snow.

YET there is a certain sadness in the return to Victoria this spring. A gardener arriving home, shaking the snow from his boots and setting out to explore his garden, is faced with an appalling list of casualties.

Last November's un-Victoria activities now reveal their victims. A drive around the town takes you past miles of dead Monterey cypress hedges (whose owners should have known better than to plant these tender California exiles in such a northern latitude), innumerable climbing roses that will never climb again and many a private tragedy known only to the amateur horticulturist.

Spring this year will be marked by such funeral pyres and wails of lamentation as we have never known in these parts before. For the first time in this generation we are learning the facts of Canadian life.

BEFORE getting down to work in this space again I would just like to add that there are many other facts of life that we haven't yet learned.

While we watch the opening buds of leaf and blossom some pretty poisonous shoots are appearing on the broad terrain of the world and may bear some ugly flowers before autumn.

Within Canada we are beginning to witness the first real heaving in the soil of national politics since 1935, when Mr. Mackenzie King planted a crop undamaged by the gales and frosts of twenty-one seasons.

And across the border our neighbors are now sowing a quadrennial harvest to be reaped, as good grain or tares, next November.

THUS a man coming back to Victoria this spring suddenly leaves reality behind when he crosses the Strait of Georgia. If he has been exposed to great affairs in Ottawa and Washington, or to the horrors of New York and its growing Canadian image called Toronto, he feels that he is escaping from a particularly noisesome asylum into sunlight and sanity.

The escape, of course, is imaginary. The Strait of Georgia only seems to separate us, by a safe moat, from the noisy continent. Anyway, which is reality—the continent now gripped and shaken by a new kind of crisis for which it is totally unprepared; or this sylvan dell shaken only by a surge of spring sap, a chatter of robins and the midnight symphony of the frogs?

IN PRAISE OF THE SEA

The sea, however much you hate it, is a mighty insulator from the nag and fret of the workaday landsman's world. Its discomforts are real but usually endurable; its dangers are immediate, of limited duration, and can be met with strength, ingenuity and courage, while the landsman's are usually dull and long-drawn-out, and will not positively cease next week or the week after.

Between the Letter's Lines

BY STEWART ALSOP, From Washington

FOR the past week or so, every Western intelligence specialist has been working overtime analyzing the meaning of the Kremlin's denunciation of Joseph Stalin. By now, they have had time to digest the facts, and to reach conclusions. Particular attention has been paid to the contents of the official Kremlin letter on Stalin, even now being read to hushed gatherings of Communist Party members all over the Soviet Union. In some ways, the letter is more important than party boss Nikita Khrushchev's previous attack on Stalin. It represents the basic indictment of Stalin which the Kremlin is presenting to the Communist elite, and will no doubt soon present to the Soviet people and the world.

Stewart

As far as is known, the complete text of this historic document is not yet available in the West. But its four basic points have been cabled to Washington and London. They are as follows:

First, Stalin's forced collectivization policy unnecessarily alienated the peasantry.

Second, the "doctor's plot" was fabricated by Stalin as the prelude to another general blood purge of Soviet officials.

Third, Stalin undermined Soviet military strength before the war, when he caused 5,000 Soviet officers to be executed.

Fourth, Stalin bungled the conduct of the war. Specifically, when he failed to heed the advice of his General Staff at the time of the battle of the Kharkov Bulge, he was personally responsible for the destruction of 400,000 Soviet troops.

Methods Attacked

The letter is obviously more significant for what it omits than for what it includes. Stalin is attacked for the way he forced collectivization, not collectivization itself. He is not criticized for instituting the system of forced labor, for brutally depressing the standard of living, or for establishing the secret police. Nor is he attacked for such acts of foreign policy as the seizure of the Baltic states, the forced communization of the satellites, or the Korean War.

The attack on Stalin represents, in short, no real shift from Stalinist doctrine and objectives.

It implies only a change in methods. It also constitutes a sort of public promise to the bureaucracy, the army elite, and the peasant, that they will not again be blindly purged, hounded to death, or starved. It certainly does not constitute a promise of the right of dissent, a fact underlined by the efficient repression of the riots in the Georgia Republic.

On this interpretation the best judges in Washington, London, and Moscow, are agreed. But this does not answer the question: Why was Stalin attacked frontally, and at this particular time?

The simplest answer is that the Soviet rulers have behaved like the children of a tyrannical and brutish parent, afraid for a long time to acknowledge, after the terrible old man was dead, how they had hated and feared him. When the acknowledgement of hatred came, it had to be public and frontal, as a common protection against the charges of deviationism.

If this theory is correct, the attack on Stalin is evidence of the confidence and cohesion of the ruling group. But there is also a minority theory that the denunciation of Stalin may be an outward expression of an inner convulsion in the ruling clique.

Dangerous Words

This view derives largely from careful analysis of the speeches of Khrushchev and trade boss Anastas Mikoyan.

Khrushchev called flatly for a united front policy abroad, and for working for power through legal means. Mikoyan denounced precisely this policy as "reformism and revisionism"—two of the harshest and most dangerous words in the Soviet vocabulary. And Mikoyan went on to lay heavy emphasis on the injustice of the Stalinist purges in the Ukraine in the thirties—when Khrushchev was Stalin's principal Ukrainian hatchet man.

To some of the experts, at least, Mikoyan's speech reads surprisingly like the kind of oblique knife-sticking which in the past has heralded the downfall of one or another of the Soviet oligarchs. But most of the specialists believe that Khrushchev is securely established as number one man.

In fact, the personal fate of such men as Khrushchev and Mikoyan does not greatly matter. What does matter is that the basic doctrines and objectives of the Kremlin remain, and will remain, the same until, to use Khrushchev's famous phrase, shrimps learn to whistle. The Kremlin's official letter of denunciation is, paradoxically, merely further evidence that this is so.

If it is not too late could Pandora Avenue be widened from Blanchard to Douglas Street? The new bank when narrowed would have to be made higher. We trust Pandora Avenue will still be there fifty years hence.

There is a very, very great need of newspapers in our Public Library. I believe we are the only provincial capital without newspapers in our Public Library. I know nothing about Newfoundland. And could we have chairs that do not scream and crunch when you move them?

Could these periodicals be allowed out on our cards: Dalhousie Review, Queens Quarterly, University of Toronto Quarterly, and The Canadian Banker?

Credit Where Credit Is Due

Ever since Sir Humphrey Davy demonstrated the incandescence of an iron wire in air under the passage of the electric current, efforts were made to produce the incandescent lamp, and in the 50 years preceding Swan and Edison, scores of inventors produced hundreds of such lamps.

It was soon recognized that exclusion of air was essential and remarkably high vacua were obtained in some of these early lamps; nevertheless, they all failed within a few minutes from blackening of the bulb. If we look at a burnt out bulb we can see a slight blackening around the neck, the same effect but reduced to negligible proportions.

This blackening is due to the escape of occluded gases in the filament, released when heated in vacuo, and it was the recognizing of this fact and finding the solution to it, that constitutes the basic discovery of both Swan and Edison, and since Swan's demonstration took place 10 months earlier than Edison's he is indisputably the inventor of the first "practicable" incandescent lamp.

The Encyclopedia Britannica, (which is an American publication, in spite of its name) rests Edison's claim on a judgment handed down in a London, England, court to the effect that Swan did not and could not produce a filament of the same fineness as Edison's, yet the problem as we have seen was not the filament at all. In fact, it was only a short time before Edison was using the Swan filament, and the Swan method of sealing the leads into the bulb.

Joseph Wilson Swan, afterwards, Sir Joseph, was a versatile researcher in many fields, and he was the inadvertent pioneer in the present vast field of artificial fabrics. He took some of the extruded celulose threads that he was experimenting upon for lamp filaments and had them woven into doilies and table mats.

Swan's 10 months precedence does not in any way detract from Edison's achievements. He pushed the commercial application of the electric lamp far more vigorously than Swan and almost single-handed developed generation, distribution, protection and house wiring.

That one man should not be eulogised exclusively we must remember that Edison was the determined opponent of the alternating current system, introduced into America by George Westinghouse and upon which the whole vast expansion of the electrical age is due.

It is interesting to note that Westinghouse's first idea, which was distribution at 2,000 volts underground with individual transformers in the basements of each building, is being revived, and that in a few years time we may see each home with its stabilized voltage, in place of the erratically high and low voltages—sometimes both—according to the hour of day that we have to put up with today.

China and Western Trade

Canada must now realize, that since 1949 China has re-emerged once more as a great power, and Canadians should aquaint themselves with some knowledge of China's past.

China enjoyed a major power status for some 2,000 years. Trade flourished in China and reached to the Mediterranean world before the christian era.

In AD 999, custom houses for foreign trade were established at Hongchow and Ningpo. AD 851-867 Arab records state that the "sea route trade between Europe and China was maintained for over a thousand years."

Overland trade between China and Europe flourished between cities whose names are today known as the buried cities of Central Asia. It was long after this period in 1278 that Marco Polo, with his father and uncle, re-established overland trade once more.

In 1537 the Portuguese established a trading station at Macao; and in 1587 the Chinese authorized a settlement of Europeans in China at Macao.

Around 1600 the Spanish came to China via America and the Philippines; and trade between China and the Philippines was chiefly by Chinese junks.

Historical records show that from there on the western nations forced semi-piratical trade on the Chinese. The brutality of the early Portuguese, Dutch, and English traders was bad, but that of the Spanish even worse. It was only after this that the Chinese government adopted restrictive trade policies, which were so different from the cultural humane treatment Marco Polo praised them for.

Around the year 1663 the English East India Company began to trade with China, and from then until 1909 the blackest chapter of British trading ethics with China was written. Certain British consular reports confirm it.

By introducing the opium trade to Chinese officialdom, their craving for the drug became such, that soon not only officialdom, but merchants, peasants, and the artisan classes of the Chinese became hopelessly demoralized. Whilst in this helpless condition, all western powers exploited China to the utmost.

They imposed unequal treaties, forced China to open all her ports to foreign trade, got Chinese merchants hopelessly in debt, legalized the sale of opium to the Chinese, openly permitted smuggling, and with the help of foreign gunboats, even forced Chinese officialdom to assist.

With collusion of corrupt Chinese officialdom, the British introduced the slave-labor export trade, and organized and controlled the Chinese railway system.

So much for the past. The present decade 1946-56 marks the beginning of a new Chinese dynasty, which I predict will be one of China's greatest. Canada stands much to gain, but only by "avoiding" the trading blunders of the western powers who came to age before Canada.

ON THE TIMES

By ART STOTT

Sound of Running Water

IT is early yet for the full enjoyment of Shawnigan.

A harsh winter is being followed by a slow spring. The night chorus of the frogs is still to come. The quick unfurling of foliage on the willows and alders and the rush of leaf to the waterside brush is some time off. Snow lingers on the northern slopes of the hillsides and the breeze from it comes sharply cold.

Stott

In the hours of bright but chill sunshine a flicker sounds his strident note high on a balsam snag and occasionally a robin, deeper in the woods, gives his rain song.

From the lake comes the mocking laughter of a loon and overhead a stray goose, orphaned from its flock, cries its troubled complaint.

Above the surface, square-tailed swallows loop and dip, swooping to drink on the wing, but it is not yet time for the birds of finer song. They wait the fuller assurance of a new season, the push of trilliums out of the forest mold and the unfurling of their white and purple blooms.

SATURATION

It is a time of waiting at the lake—an indefinite period of rain beating on the grey water, dripping from the evergreen boughs and forming a million thread-streams that trace their way along the small hollows under the trees.

Yet for a man with stout boots and an ear for running water, there is music in the woods around the lake.

There are tinkling notes as the runnels spill down the slope, join others and make their own tiny streamlets. Growing, they form brooks meandering through the saturated earth to combine in rockier ground and plunge to the lake.

Where tall sword ferns grow in summer and where the sharp scent of yellow aram rises from the hollows in a warmer season, a small stream leaps now, tearing soil from its banks, exposing roots and cascading over rocks in its tumbling rush. Around the shore a dozen noisy freshets proclaim the vigor of their short lives.

Intermittent flashes of sunlight lance through the trees, catching the red of last year's arbutus bark, peeling to reveal its slashes of chartreuse. The morning sun strikes the green of new moss, baby fresh.

A man goes about his desultory work around his cabin, sawing small windfalls, idling by the lake to watch the fluid grace of a fly fisherman casting for reluctant trout.

CHORES

There are chores to be done, a pump to install now the water has receded from its peak winter height and the threat of heavy frost has gone. There is the simple triumph that comes each year, when, his unions coupled, he works the handle and sends water splashing again into his elevated tank.

And once again to a man with an ear for running water, there are new notes to catch—the hiss of small jets spurting from seams split in his pipes by last year's freeze-up. But there is no music to it, no small bell sounds, only an annoying sibilance to accompany his muttered cussing.

He labors with old pipe, patching a leak here, renewing a conduit there, and the afternoon slips away, with more rain showers and a few clear spells.

Evening comes with a full yellow moon and a few bright stars in a sky that is still light blue. A rising wind brings more clouds and rain. A man turns in to his cabin, finds cheering warmth in the glow of old arbutus burning red in his fireplace, drying out the winter damp of his room and filling it with a friendly drowsiness.

On the roof drums the steady beat of rain. From the eaves falls the steady drip.

It is early yet for the full enjoyment of Shawnigan outdoors. But not too early for the comfort of a rough shack, restful with the heat of an open fire.

LONDON LETTER

By WALLACE REYBURN

Let's Go For a Walk

LONDON—The other day a Canadian couple recently arrived here dropped in to see us. We chatted for a while and my wife gave them tea. Then since it was a pleasant day, on the chilly side but the sun shining, I suggested: "Would you like to go for a walk?"

Reyburn

The woman ejaculated: "Gee! You've sure become English!"

"In what way?"

"This let's-go-for-a-walk stuff. The English always seem to be going for walks. It's about all they can think of for something to do."

Her remark set me to thinking about something noticeable to people newly arrived but which, over the years here, I had taken for granted—how the English have the walking habit much more than we do back in Canada.

* * *

There's no doubt about the fact that not only does "going for a walk" play a much more important part in the lives of the people in this country than with Canadians but, also, much more of their daily getting about is done on foot.

There are various reasons for this. Per head, Canadians own about six times more cars than the English. They prefer to go for a drive instead of a walk and have the car available for any short trips like going shopping or visiting a nearby friend, which the English do on foot.

I asked my wife about her reaction to all this walking the English do and she said: "That's something I've always noticed at parties we have here or parties we've been to. When it's getting late they don't seem to fret about missing the last bus. We'll walk home, they say—and they do. In Canada you never hear that."

Whether that is prompted by a love of walking or by necessity is a moot point. The average person here hasn't a car to get him home and taxis are regarded as something of an expense. So, as you bid them farewell at the door, they look up at the stars and say, "Lovely night for a walk." And off they'll go, perhaps several miles through the deserted London streets to their home.

Another reason for a lot of walking is the dog situation. These dogs that the English own in such vast numbers have to be walked by their owners on leads because you can't let them be out and about all day by themselves in London's congested traffic.

* * *

Another reason for the English walking for necessity rather than pleasure is that one fare doesn't take you anywhere on a bus or subway—by walking several blocks to the next fare section you can save yourself money.

But apart from this enforced foot-slogging, there's no question that the English regard "going for a walk" as a major pleasure. And they've got the parks in the cities and the promenades at the holiday resorts to make walking an agreeable diversion.

To quote my Toronto wife, "the only time the promenade at Sunnyside really gets used for walking is at Easter, to show off our bonnets." But in England you'll see people pounding a promenade all day and well into the night when the lights have gone on.

I think seizing every opportunity of going for a walk in the fresh air is a reason why the English are a much more relaxed nation than we are.

How to Beat Slugs—The Coldframe Bane

A coldframe is a blessing at this time of year but slugs are the bane of the plants within it.

Many hours of patient work are soon eliminated by these pests for they are not particular in regards to the plants they devour, and once a coldframe becomes infested no crop escapes their attention.

Slugs must have moisture and they are most attracted by succulent plants such as lettuce and celery, among the leaves of which they find shelter during the day. Young tender growth is most palatable and it is the seedlings which suffer first.

The weather of the past ten days has been to their liking. Turning a four foot length of shiplap revealed 162 grey and black slugs enjoying their daytime snooze.

The newer metaldehyde baits are truly the gardener's friend, and slugs will travel a considerable distance to gorge themselves on this delicacy.

Unfortunately it does not kill them outright but leaves them in a drunken stupor, excepting for the smaller kinds. Therefore it is necessary to collect the drunks every morning and destroy them.

The bait is placed in small piles where slugs congregate, protected from rain if in the open. Four or six little piles in a three by six frame will result in the death of hundreds of these pests.

HE COULDN'T ATTEND, BUT . . .

Sweats' Rum Ration Bolstered by Judge

Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson was unable to attend his First World War regiment's reunion here Saturday, but he was there in spirit.

A shout from old sweats of 67th Western Scots echoed through Lougheed's banquet hall when it was announced the judge compensated for his absence by a substantial donation to the rum ration fund.

He enlisted and served with the Scots as a private.

Seventy veterans of the Victoria-raised unit celebrated the 40th anniversary of their departure for overseas.

Former adjutant Capt. George Linney came the farthest to attend—he lives in Edmonton. Fifteen came from up-Island, six from Vancouver and two from Seattle.

HISTORIC PIANIST

At the piano for the traditional sing-song was Cecil Heaton, playing for his 20th reunion since first entertaining men of the regiment while in training at the former Willows army camp.

Master of ceremonies was Gordon Thomas, and response to the regimental toast was made by Maj. George Nicholson, M.C.

Selections were played on the bagpipes by Piper Jock Lowe, an original member of the unit band, and his son John.

Vancouver Crews Overwhelm Locals In 'Frostie' Races

Royal Victoria Yacht Club frostbite sailors were overwhelmed at the weekend by an invasion of kilted sailors from Vancouver.

The mainland club's 14 frostbite skippers arrived aboard Harold Jones' La Beverie—renamed MacBeverie for the occasion—and demonstrated they had been keeping up their strength with good Scotch porridge.

After two days' racing, the Vancouver sailors won the H. A. Wallace team trophy.

Bunny Whitcroft of Vancouver won the F. W. Francis Cup in the open race, defeating Herb Kenyon, Vancouver, and Roy Murdock, Victoria.

Leading Vancouver skippers were Whitcroft, Cec Helmer and Ace Lindsay. Murdock topped the Victoria skippers, followed by Ned Ashe and Peter Townshend.

Special race for commodores and ex-commodores was won by Bill Tellier, with Andy Wright second and Ashe third.

The Esquimalt squadron defeated the Discovery (Vancouver) squadron in the Royal Canadian Naval Sailing Association series, 160 to 136¼. Leading skippers were Syd Bryant and Jack Marshall, Esquimalt, and H. Irish, Discovery.

Employment Scene Brightens Here

Improvement in local employment was noted last week by National Employment Office.

Although 2,047 men are still out of work, the total is 611 less than a year ago. Unemployed women number 1,105, constant with last year at the same time.

There is a constant demand for tradesmen which is also creating a need for helpers and laborers. Laundry and domestic work offers a few openings for women. More requests have been noted for waitresses and well-trained junior stenographers.

Don't be fooled by the "chi-chi" hat!

Today's woman, like women in ages past, likes to wear things that are frilly and feminine. But don't let that mislead you. For she has taken on responsibilities that her sister of yesterday never dreamed of!

She owns more property, controls more wealth, takes a more active interest in community affairs and does most of the family buying. She now represents 23% of the nation's total working force. In many cases she owns her own business and drives her own car.

And — married or single — she owns more life insurance.

In modern times, too, life insurance companies have conducted research which has led to the progressive removal of restrictions on insuring women's lives. As a result, women are now better able to make the future more secure for themselves and those who depend upon them.

Here again is proof that the life insurance business has progressed to meet the changing needs of Canadians in all walks of life!

KNUCKLES DOWN AND DRAW ANOTHER PINT

REIGATE, Eng. (UP)—George Maynard, 84, became an odds-on-favorite today to win the world marbles championship because authorities relaxed Good Friday drinking laws.

Maynard, a retired woodcutter, has been runner-up many times. But on Friday he will have his treasured pint of beer by his side as he knuckles down to the competition.

He won a concession from licensing authorities by telling them, "I can only play marbles when there's a pint of beer by my side. Don't seem natural otherwise."

His happiness was not shared by the local clergy.

IT'S MY VIEW BY Bill Walker

THE WEEKEND IN REVIEW, or as No. 1 son said when the warden inquired as to the possibility of forgetting hockey for a time and concentrating on the weeds in the garden:

"And the green grass grew all round, all round; and the green. . ."

But now the Cougars have qualified, for the western division final in the Western Hockey League!

It's doubtful if the club ever played smarter hockey than it did on the mainland over the weekend. In Vancouver, in particular, the Canucks were hamstrung by the fierce checking of Cougar forwards. So much so, that after Canucks had come from behind a 3-0 deficit to close the gap to 3-2, they never got one good shot on goal.

In Westminster, the story was Marcel Pelletier; or, as one mainland writer suggested:

"Marcel should get two shares of the playoff pool."

Marcel held back the flood of Westminster forwards until the Cougars had established a working margin; from then on, although severely pressed, Cougars never appeared in danger of losing. And their defensive style was completely frustrating to the Royals.

★ ★ ★

Coach Billy Reay of the Seattle Americans was a visitor both games; and when chided that he had introduced the particular style the Cougars were employing, he said:

"Well trained, weren't they?" Bill having coached Cougars last season.

Reay, incidentally, leaves this week for eastern Canada, the Stanley Cup finals, and a "scouting trip."

★ ★ ★

In answer to a query, the visit of Harlem Globe-Trotters here this year realized almost $500 for the Victoria basketball fund, and several city teams were aided financially in their quest for provincial honors as a result of the fund. Pat Horgan, who has booked the Trotters here for the past few seasons, is to be congratulated on assisting the sport in this manner. All proceeds from the game were turned over to the fund.

It would be a nice gesture if the sponsors of the visit here of Goose Tatum and his "magicians" would do the same thing. Yes, it would!

★ ★ ★

The baseball story in Vancouver is such that the Mounties don't appear to have caught the imagination of the fans, as yet. Pre-season ticket sales are slow; and it seems that the performance of the club in its first two weeks on the road, before making its debut at home, will be the deciding factor in "selling the club" to the public.

★ ★ ★

Don Hamilton, spare goalie for Cougars in the WHL western division playoffs, will likely play for the junior Shamrocks in lacrosse this year. But don't be surprised if he plays more than one game for the senior club as well. . . "I'll give it a try," he said of the possibility of beating out Geordy Johnston for the Irish netminding post.

Incidentally, it was Billy Reay who signed Hamilton to a Cougar contract, and Reay was more than complimentary to Hamilton for the youngster's showing in Seattle when he replaced Pelletier in the final game of the season in Seattle.

"He made the Cougars look good," said Reay in jocular tone . . . then added "and he made us look bad."

LET ME OUTA HERE

Realizing that three's a crowd in a shoving match along the boards, referee Frank Udvari nimbly heads for the hills during a Detroit-Toronto semi-final playoff game. Udvari was climbing away from Detroit's Gordie Howe, right, and Toronto's Gord Hannigan. Red Wings lead series 3-0.

Totems Can Take Hoop Title Tonight

B.C. Team Needs Win Over Alberta

By LARRY STANWOOD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP)—Alberta Towne Hallers stifled the dangerous Manitoba Buffaloes in a rematch here Monday night to move into the final eliminations of the Olympic basketball trials.

Towne Hallers take on undefeated British Columbia Totems tonight in what could be the final crack at the Canadian amateur basketball crown and the right to represent Canada at the Olympic Games in Melbourne.

A B.C. victory will end the series but if Alberta wins each team will have one loss and a sudden-death playoff will be held Wednesday night.

The Alberta crew stayed alive in the four-team double-knockout series with a sensational 66 - 59 triumph Monday over the Manitobans, clinching the win with five foul shots in the last 35 seconds.

Towne Hallers ousted Ontario Nortowns from competition Saturday night after losing to Manitoba in the opening round Friday night.

TWO GET 19 EACH

The victory vindicated Alberta, which has a reputation as basketball kings of the Prairies.

Stalwarts for Alberta were centre Ed Lucth, at six-foot-seven the tallest player in the trials, and speedy forward Don MacIntosh, each scoring 19 points. Guard Bill Price with 15 points, second forward Tom Karren and guard Art Kruger completed the Alberta first string.

Manitoba standouts were bucket man Herb Olafson with 16 points, forward Carl Ridd with 12 and fireball guard Mike Spack, five-foot-four, who potted seven field goals.

Alberta's main gun was its tight zone defence, especially effective in the first quarter as they built an almost - impenetrable wall around the key.

However, Dr. Maury van Vliet's squad also made the most of tall men Lucht and MacIntosh in their offence to outscore the Buffs 22-8 in the first 10 minutes. Alberta led 33-30 at the half.

Lineups follow:

Alberta—Lucht 19, Karren 9, D. MacIntosh 19, Price 15, Kruger 3, N. MacIntosh, Newton, Stevenson, Rice, West 1, Jansen, McCallum. Total—66.

Manitoba—Olafson 16, Ridd 12, Parobec 7, Hudon 2, Spack 14, Burkett 2, Herbertson 1, Oelkers, Bevan, Smith, Hamilton, Haag 5. Total—59.

'AND THERE THEY GO' AT SANDOWN, SEPT. 15

The Sandowne track racing season this year will open Sept. 15 for a 14-day season at the Sidney track, it was announced Monday.

The B.C. Turf and Ascot Jockey Club have signed a two-year agreement on racing dates, which are subject to federal and provincial government approval.

Vancouver will have 72 days of racing, divided between Lansdowne and Exhibition Parks. The Exhibition Park season opens May 18 with Lansdowne racing starting June 8.

Cougars Asked For Big Favor

Victoria Cougars meet Vancouver Canucks in a western division semifinal round-robin playoff game at Memorial Arena tonight.

And the big question is "how many goals will Vancouver get?"

Win or lose, goals are the most important commodity for the Canucks in their fight to qualify for a post-season playoff berth with Cougars.

Cougars, by winning their first three games of this semi-final series, have gained a playoff berth. Royals have one victory in three games. Canucks are winless in two games.

If Canucks win tonight they will be tied with Royals, and the winner of the Wednesday game in Vancouver between Canucks and Royals will decide the opponent for Cougars.

However, if Cougars win, and coach Eddie Olson plans nothing less than victory—"we want to retain our fine playoff edge"—then Canucks, besides beating Royals, must also establish a goal edge over the Royal City crew in order to break the point tie.

Royals presently have scored six goals and have nine goals against. Canucks have scored five goals and have had seven scored against them. In case of a point tie, teams with most "goals for" will enter the final; if tied in goals, team with fewest "goals against" would gain the final.

Most pleasing result from a Royal viewpoint would be a 4-0 Cougar shutout over Canucks. Then Royals could lose to Vancouver by one goal Wednesday and still win a playoff berth.

Anything less by Cougars would necessitate Royals having to win Wednesday's game at Vancouver.

Game time is 8.30.

NEW PITCH

Tommy Tosses 'Kimono Ball' At Pee-Wee

VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Tommy Byrne, New York Yankees' unpredictable southpaw, has come up with a new gimmick—"the kimono ball."

"I picked it up while I was in Japan," the 36-year-old pitcher told the New York Post. "I just use it on special occasions."

Byrne, who has been accused of talking to batters and making batters talk to themselves, gave his new pitch its American debut in the exhibition game here Monday against Brooklyn Dodgers.

In the fifth inning, Dodger shortstop Pee Wee Reese came to bat with nobody on base. The pitcher was Byrne. The count reached two strikes and one ball.

Byrne went into a weird contortion, wrapped his throwing arm around his back, concealing the ball, and then unwound himself. The ball shot from somewhere toward the plate.

Dumbfounded, Reese fell away from the plate. The pitch was wide.

"What was that, for gosh sakes?" Reese exclaimed.

"That was his kimono ball wrap-around, get it?" replied Yankee catch Yogi Berra. "Better be careful, he may throw it again."

Phil Befuddled, But Still Retains Slim Hope

By W. R. WHEATLEY, Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP)—Phil Watson, already sick and tired of second-guessing himself, shudders at what awaits him tonight if his New York Rangers lose to Montreal Canadiens and bow out of their Stanley Cup semifinal playoff.

"I would have to walk across the ice and shake hands—right here in Montreal," said the fiery Ranger coach Monday night. "That would be awful; just awful. In New York it would be different, but here in Montreal. . . ."

Did Watson mean he was conceding a Montreal win and a wind-up of the series four games to one?

"Not on your life; we're conceding nothing," shot back Watson with a show of indignation. "We've got a good bunch of fellows, a good hockey team, and they will be out there battling. Don't mistake that.

"But what can we do about stopping this Montreal club? . . . We stopped Rocket Richard and Boom Boom Geoffrion and Jean Beliveau in New York. What happened? Bert Olmstead is the big goal scorer."

FAVORS RULE CHANGE

Watson said he thought NHL regulations should be changed so the first and third place teams wouldn't face each other in one semi-final.

"We nearly made second place, and I sure wish now we had. Maybe things would have been different."

Gossip persisted that Gordie Bell, who capably handled the goaltending job in the only game the Rangers have won, would again be in the New York nets tonight.

"I don't know," said Watson, wagging his head dolefully. "I'm so tired of second-guessing myself I don't know right now whether it will be Bell or Lorne Worsley."

Watson also shook his head about possible changes in his forward lines, although general manager Muzz Patrick said earlier Monday that the lines would be re-grouped into the combinations that pulled out Thursday's 4-2 win.

LAUDS RANGERS

While Watson was pondering ways and means of stopping the highly favored Montrealers, managing director Frank Selke of Canadiens was paying tribute to the Rangers.

Selke said the series isn't over yet "but the New York fans should be proud of the Rangers, whether they win or lose."

Coach Toe Blake felt the same way about not taking it for granted that the series is virtually over. "Our fellows realize they have got to win out there on the ice," he said. "I don't think there is any feeling of complacency with them. They came back after losing here Thursday and took two games in New York."

Blake was still critical of the refereeing in the series and said he thought Canadiens were getting more than their share of penalties.

TRAILERMEN SIGN FORMER JUNIOR STAR

Coach Harry Wipper, beating the bushes in eastern Canada on behalf of the Nanaimo Trailermen, has come up with a highly-regarded junior find.

Freshman coach Wipper, on a prolonged recruiting trip, signed Ron Jay, was named Ontario's Junior Athlete of the Year last year.

Jay was the leading scorer in eastern junior competition and finished the season with the Peterborough Trailermen. That was his only senior experience but Wipper has stated the young rookie is ready for senior competition.

While in the east, Wipper is also negotiating for the return of big Jim McNulty, last year's Intercity Lacrosse League scoring champion.

Canadians' Olympic 'Beef' Justified

TORONTO (CP) — The Telegram quotes a United States Figure Skating Association official as saying two Canadians who lost the pairs championships at the European world figure skating championships this year "had a beef."

The paper quotes William O. Hickok as commenting on a charge of Norris Bowden and Frances Dafoe that the championships were fixed.

The Canadian pairs champions charged that "European judges engaged in horse-trading," offering to swap firsts in the men's and women's singles in exchange for a European win in the pairs competition.

Mr. Hickok said he didn't "blame" the Canadians a bit. "There's no way in the world to prove it but we heard about the trading business in 1954. I also heard definite rumors that it happened again this year."

The Canadian pair finished second to an Austrian team in both the winter Olympics and the European champions last month.

Maple Leafs Ready To Try 'Impossible'

By JIM BASTABLE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — Hap Day says nothing is impossible.

He says Toronto Maple Leafs could even knock Detroit Red Wings out of the Stanley Cup semi-finals.

You smile wryly, knowing Leafs, sadly inexperienced against the tough Wings, are already down three games in the best-of-seven series.

It's no joke, says Day, Leafs' indomitable general manager. Leaning on the boards as Detroit ran through a light practice here Monday, Hap said:

"We were three games down in '42 and nobody gave us a chance against Detroit. But we came back and won the next four. I think we can do it again. We should be leading this series 2-1 instead of being down 3-0."

Leafs take on the Wings tonight in the fourth game. The odds against them repeating the sensational comeback of 14 years ago are astronomical. For those who venture to bet on Toronto tonight the odds are around 2 to 1 in favor of the Wings.

MELNYK MOVES UP

Despite their position, the Wings aren't cocky.

"My boys realize the Leafs could break out," said coach Jimmy Skinner at the Wings training headquarters at Hamilton. "This Leaf team is much tougher than the one we beat out in four straight in the semi-finals last spring."

Skinner said there probably will be no lineup changes tonight, although flashy centre Gerry Melnyk was moved up from Edmonton Flyers of the Western Hockey League.

Toppazzini Tops AHL Point Race

NEW YORK (AP) — Zellio Toppazzini of Providence Reds won the American Hockey League scoring championship for the 1955-56 season with 113 points.

Final figures released today show the 26-year-old winger, who played in all 64 of his team's games, collected 42 goals and 71 assists. His point output tied for the third highest in league history.

Pittsburgh's Willie Marshall finished second with 97 points, followed by Camille Henry of Providence with 91.

Henry recorded the most goals, 50, and Toppazzini's 71 assists topped the playmakers.

Pittsburgh's Gil Mayer captured goaltending honors for the fourth straight season, allowing 151 goals in 56 games for an average of 2.70. Mayer also led in shutouts with five.

Meanwhile, Toppazzini and his amazing Reds — they climbed from last a year ago to first this year—open the Calder Cup competition tonight when they play host to Buffalo.

The other semifinal series, pitting Cleveland against Pittsburgh, opens at Pittsburgh Thursday.

FLETCHER PRESIDENT

Nanaimo May Rejoin City Boxla League

The Victoria Senior "B" Lacrosse League this year will have at least four, and possibly five teams with all but one team eligible for the city and Island title.

Entries have been filed by the Jokers and Foul Bay teams and Navy's application is expected shortly. The Victoria Junior Shamrocks will participate in the league schedule but will not be eligible for playoff competition and they will also be competing in the Intercity Junior League.

Nanaimo, which dropped out of the league last year, has expressed interest in returning to the fold and league delegates have arranged a meeting with Nanaimo representatives.

Doug Fletcher and Fred Harding were returned as president and honorary president respectively at the annual general meeting.

Other officers elected were: First vice-president, Eric Foster; second vice-president, Jim Hetherington; third vice-president, Hector McNeil; secretary, Frank Holmes; registrar, Jim Jennings, and treasurer, Charlie Thomas.

Registrations for all minor players under 14 will be held at Stevenson Park April 7.

Vernon Takes Series Lead

TRAIL (CP)—Vernon's Frank King played the leading role for Canadians as the Okanagan senior Hockey team downed Spokane Flyers 4-2 to take a 3-1 lead in the best-of-seven series for the Savage Cup. One game is tied.

King, who drove home the game winner in the third period, was star for the Canadians on Saturday night as he boomed home two third period goals and forced the 3-3 tie.

King found himself all alone in front of the Spokane net with goalie Johnny Sofiak sprawled on the ice after blocking a shot by Johnny Harms. Harms slipped the puck to King, who had no trouble hitting the opening.

Mounties Break Out

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — Vancouver's Mounties slammed three Hollywood pitchers for 17 hits and whipped the Stars 17-5, in a ragged exhibition game.

Right fielder Willie Tasby was the batting star for the Mounties, getting a homer and a triple.

Charlie Beamon was the winning pitcher, although the Stars tagged him for three runs in six innings and Bill Diemer was called in to relieve him in the seventh.

Dodgers Break Out; Top Yanks

By The Associated Press

The world champion Brooklyn Dodgers finally laid the wood to the New York Yankees in spring play Monday, belting Maury McDermott for 11 runs in the second inning to whip the American League champions 15-7.

The Yankees, who lost last fall's world series to the Brooks, had beaten the Dodgers in their first two exhibition meetings during the weekend.

Brooklyn collected 18 hits, after being held to only 12 hits in the first two games. The Dodgers sent 17 men to the plate for 10 hits in the second frame alone. Jackie Robinson, who hit a three-run homer, Charlie Neal, Gil Hodges and Carl Furillo each had two hits in the big inning.

The Yanks got 15 hits off Sandy Koufax, rookie Stan Williams and Roger Craig.

Pittsburgh and Milwaukee also had a slugfest, with the Pirates thumping the Braves 16-9 on 17 hits as Dale Long drove in five runs with a triple, double and homer.

SNAP WIN STREAK

Cincinnati snapped St. Louis Cardinals' six-game winning streak 3-1 with ex-Card Brook Lawrence going all the way for the Redlegs. Larry Doby hit a triple and three singles for Chicago White Sox in a 9-2 decision over Boston Red Sox. Philadelphia trimmed Detroit 6-2 with Del Ennis hammering a grand-slam homer; Chicago Cubs outslugged Cleveland 9-5, and New York Giants battered Baltimore 14-1.

Lawrence kept the Cardinals in check despite 10 hits and three walks. The Redlegs made the most of eight hits and a two-run error by Card shortstop Alex Grammas in the seventh inning. The two clubs top the exhibition standings with 10-7 records.

Doby's four blows sent his spring average to .419 for the White Sox, who sent Boston to its fourth straight defeat as Sandy Consuegra and rookie Joe Dahike scattered seven Red Sox hits.

Battle Royal On Mat Card Here Thursday

There will be a gang rumble at Victoria Ballroom Thursday night. Not with zip-guns, blackjacks or spring knives but with bare hands.

Feature attraction of the Thursday night wrestling card will be a murderous item called a Battle Royal. Six wrestlers of assorted size will be pitched into the ring at the same time and left to get out in the best way possible.

The starters will be Adrian Baillergon, Reg Parkes, Earl McCready, Don Kindred, Leo Numa and Ken Kenneth.

First two wrestlers to be pinned will meet in a later 30-minute time limit match.

Second two losers meet in a 45-minute match while the final surviving pair are matched in a no-time-limit bout that serves as the main event.

It is hoped that negro sensation, Bearcat Wright, 6-foot, 6-inch Nashville, Tennessee, main-eventer, will appear on the card. If he does, he will take McCready's place in the Battle Royal.

Hashim Wins Squash

LONDON (AP) — Hashim Khan, 41-year-old Pakistani, Monday won the British open squash rackets title for the sixth straight year—a record.

He defeated 26-year-old Roshan Khan, his cousin, 9-4, 9-2, 5-9, 9-5 in the final.

The Duke of Edinburgh watched the 55-minute match and then presented the trophy.

What Made Him Tumble? Devon Loch Saw 'Ghost'

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—Turf experts attribute the sensational, stranger-than-fiction finish of Saturday's Grand National steeplechase to a "ghost" jump.

The theory is that the Queen Mother's Devon Loch, with the great race practically over, lifted his front legs to clear an imaginary obstacle, checked in mid-flight when he saw it was not there and then slithered along the turf on his hind legs.

Racing writers note that Devon Loch soared into the air at a point parallel with a body of water flanking the race course. They suggested the reflection of the water may have induced the horse to take off on his fatal leap.

The incident, adding an unforgettable chapter of the legends of Grand National history, occurred within 50 yards of the winning post. It enabled Mrs. Leonard Carver's E.S.B. to sweep by to triumph, with Gentle Moya second and gallant 12-year-old Royal Tan third among the nine survivors in the field of 29 runners.

SIX LENGTHS AHEAD

Devon Loch was six lengths clear of E.S.B. when the accident happened, turning victory into defeat. The climax came amid a storm of cheering and just as the large crowd prepared to doff hats in the traditional greeting to a royal winner, first since Ambush II won for the Prince of Wales, later Edward VII, in 1900.

One commentator said the last-minute drama could be compared only with the scene at Vancouver in 1954 when British marathoner Jim Peters, far ahead of his field, collapsed in the last 200 yards of a 26-mile run.

The horse, carrying a crushing 158 pounds over the 4½-mile course, already had jumped Aintree's 30 formidable fences without a flaw.

Trainer Peter Casalet said today Devon Lock is completely fit.

"The horse just slipped from behind. No blame can be attached to anyone. It is quite untrue to say Devon Lock was a spent horse. He was finishing very strongly."

Casalet was associated with Davy Jones, another tragic thoroughbred in National annals. In 1936, with the race at his mercy, Dave Jones ran wide when his reins snapped in the late Lord Mildmay's hands and the race went to Reynoldstown.

'GO CANADIAN' NEW RACING THEME

LONDON (CP) — Canadian-owned horses are cleaning up in Britain. A parlay on the four which have run in the last two weeks would have netted more than 700 to 1.

Square Dance, owned by Mrs. Vernon Cardy of Montreal, started the streak March 10 by winning a big hurdle race at Hurst Park, paying 13 to 2.

A week later, Calgary's Max Bell won the first race of the Irish flat-racing season with his two-year-old Co-Exist, the even-money favorite.

Last week, Mrs. Andrew Holt of Montreal, won a hurdle event at Fontwell Park in Sussex with Duo II, a former flat racer. Mythical, owned by E. P. Taylor of Toronto, won a one-and-a-quarter-mile flat race at Hurst Park, Saturday.

Youngsters Take Over For Minor Soccer Day

Lower Island Junior and Juvenile Football Association's best soccer players will make day-long use of Athletic Park Good Friday on the annual "Juvenile Soccer Day" program.

Proceeds of Friday's show, as in every year, will go to help carry out the soccer program during the year in the association's seven divisions. Part of the proceeds will also be used to send Victoria representatives to the B.C. Tournament of Champions in Vancouver in May.

Victoria Strathconas will be the feature attraction of the Good Friday program, meeting the Victoria and District All-Stars at 3.30.

Action, however, will start at 8.30 in the morning when Eagles and Heaneys kick off in a division five tussle.

Eagles and Combines of division four will follow with a match at 11, and HMCS Venture, first service team to play in the LIJJFA, will tackle Eagles in a division one contest at 1 p.m.

Winner of the All-Stars-Strathconas match will receive the Tony Hope Memorial Trophy following the game, and all trophies won by LIJJFA teams during the season, including the Don McLaren Memorial Trophy for sportsmanship, will be awarded.

Victoria High School Tumbling Club will give a demonstration during the afternoon.

"Juvenile Day" tickets may be obtained from any player in the association or from Bud McLaren at 4-7557.

All-star lineup for Friday will include Ken Druce, right fullback (Esq); Bill Bamford, left fullback (CM); Lyle Blaus, right half (BB); Ken Hill, centre-half (He); Tom McMillan, left half (Brodies); Tim Walker, outside-right (He); Bob Clarke, inside-right (CM); Daryl Burley, centre-forward (He); Frank Clark inside-left (Esq); Alex Stewart, outside-left (Till).

Spares are C. Braun (DW); Len Scott (DW); D. Edgar (SC); L. Anderson (Till), and coach is Hank Slater of Esquimalt.

City Shuttle Teams Trim Mainland Reps

A party of 38 of Victoria's best badminton players flew to Vancouver over the weekend and came back with an overwhelming victory against Vancouver players.

It was the first in an annual series of Intercity League matches, between various city divisions.

Vancouver players are seeded in divisions AA, A, B, C and D while Victorians are seeded in One, Two, Three, Four and Five.

The Victoria Division One players met Vancouver's "A" players with each other city team meeting a Vancouver team of one lower seeding.

In the first competition, the Brentwood badminton team, composed of Joyce MacDonald, Muriel Knott, Bumps Salmon, Barbara Atkins, George Lane, Norm Lambrick, Stu Reid and Rom Knott, defeated University of British Columbia, eight matches to four.

The Victoria Lawn Tennis and Badminton Club team defeated Vancouver Strathcona Club, 10-2, Victoria players being Bev Anderson, Helen Dewar, Joan Rothe, Judy Mangin, Dunc Tolson, Bob Hunt, Ron Simmonds and Ken Douglas.

The Cordova Bay team of Division Three scored an 11-1 victory over North Vancouver with Pat Leahy, Tommy Ward, Les Footner, Alice Caddell, Les Ledson, Al Kay, Phil Crampton and Dave Radford competing for Victoria.

In the last matches, between Cordova Bay of Division Four and Vancouver's "D" team, Victoria swept all matches, 12-0. Victoria players were Helen Schmelz, Val Clarke, Joan Williams, Rene Conway, Ian Williams, Rodger Lindal, Bill Mahon and Greg Harvey.

The competition was arranged by the B.C. Badminton Association.

Local Softballers Reject Triple 'A'

Victoria Senior "A" Men's Softball League has rejected a plan to align itself with the B.C. division of the Western Canada Softball Association, and has voted instead to remain with the B.C. Amateur Softball Association.

The B.C. division of the WCSA last week set up triple "A" softball districts in the province and included Victoria. At their annual meeting Sunday, however, the city senior "A" teams decided to remain with the BCASA, which is affiliated with the Canadian Softball Association.

Winner of the BCASA final this year gets an automatic berth in the softball World Series in Sacramento, Cal., next September.

Four teams have entered the Victoria league to date. They are Victoria City, Arrows and Chinese Students, all returning from last year, and Gorge Hotel, formerly Cec Fletchers. United Services squad has dropped out of league play for one season.

Deadline for entries is April 15.

An inter-city schedule with the seven-team South Hill League of Vancouver will be carried out this season.

Officers elected at the meeting were Norm Nichols, president; Mel Padgett, RCN, vice-president, and Ken Lloyd, secretary.

The meeting was informed that the Canadian softball championships will be held in Vancouver in 1958 in conjunction with B.C.'s centennial celebrations.

LEISHMAN
CANADA'S MOST DISTINGUISHED CLOTHES

Leishman's Mr. Dillmann wears Leishman's All-Weather "Drizzler" Topcoat
Our leading man, Mr. Dillmann, believes in keeping his eye on the weather—and so our "Drizzler" coat is an important item in his wardrobe. The "Drizzler" can be worn around the clock and almost around the calendar. It is constructed to be proof against virtually any weather, of fine, fine Venetian gabardine, woven for Leishman in the British Isles. Leishman's new styling advances are evident in the youthful, more natural lines.

GRAIN

WINNIPEG (CP) — An aggressive demand for all grains sparked trade on the Winnipeg grain exchange today. Overseas interests were the best buyers.

There were reports Germany had purchased oats. Fair barley sales were reported to the United Kingdom and other countries. Shippers and export interests bought rye.

Flax was more active among export interests. The United Kingdom was reported to have purchased parcel lots.

July oats and all months of barley and rye reached seasonal highs. Prices were generally up.

Lakehead prices for Class Two, IWA and domestic wheat were unchanged.

CHICAGO (AP)—A series of seasonal highs were rung up by grains in a market which bounce up and down in active dealings on the board of trade today.

Prices did not maintain their best levels. Frequently the entire market sank below the previous close as profit-taking got the upper hand. Just as often, the market bounced back again. There was heavy profit-taking in the afternoon.

During the day all wheat, rye and soybean futures sold at their best levels since trading in them started. So did several oats and corn futures.

Seasonal highs in numerous futures also were registered at Kansas City and Winnipeg.

Lumber Output Drops in N.S.

HALIFAX (CP)—One of the harshest winters in decades is likely to mean a drop in Nova Scotia's lumber production this year.

A Maritime Lumber Bureau official says it is highly unlikely that the 1956 yield will equal that of last year.

Production started well last autumn, but the Christmas holidays were followed by a long siege of storms and rains.

The province last year produced 382,000,000 board feet of lumber.

METALS 'NO MENACE'

MONTREAL (BUP)—A United States government official today told Canadian lumbermen to stop worrying that the age of metals will put them out of business.

Richard E. McArdle, chief of the U.S. agriculture department's forest service, said "it would not strain my imagination to conceive that demand for wood as industrial raw material may increase faster than demand for non-wood material."

STOCK MARKET SUMMARIES

Industrial Index Up 2.63 To New Record of 479.71

TORONTO (CP) — Gains up to $10 in industrials and a widespread advance by western oils and uraniums were features of afternoon dealings on the stock exchange today.

The industrial index was up 2.63 points to another record high of 479.71 but in the last hour of trading it dropped back to 478.57.

Coppers scored some gains, but were generally hesitant on talk of lower prices.

Papers produced a batch of sharp gains among industrials with MacLaren up $10 at $100, International Paper up $4.50 at $129, Great Lakes up $2.12 at $52.50

BUSINESS DIARY

Kamloops Co. Resumes Work On Iron Mask

By NORMAN CRIBBENS
Times Business Editor

With financial backing from Vancouver, Kamloops interests have resumed development of the Iron Mask Mine, a former copper producer, four miles southwest of Kamloops.

Kamloops Copper Co. Ltd. acquired this property five years ago when copper was less than half its present price. During its former period of operation, the Iron Mask produced 189,230 tons of 4.1 per cent copper ore.

More than half of this ore was milled before the discovery of the flotation process for concentration of ores. With present day methods, it is contended that ore grading as low as 1.5 per cent could, in quantity, be the basis of a profitable operation.

G. E. P. Jones, recently appointed chairman of the B.C. government purchasing commission, will address the Victoria Sales Executive Club at a dinner meeting in the Oak Bay Beach Hotel tonight.

He tells me he will direct his talk towards promoting better understanding between local suppliers and members of his department.

The Sales Executive Club will have at this meeting graduates of the sales management course sponsored by the club in conjunction with Victoria College and the University of British Columbia.

A full-scale price war is going on between three types of automobile insurance companies in British Columbia, and some policies are cheaper now than they were 25 years ago.

Contenders in this insurance battle are the direct writer (or mail order type of insurance firm), the independent companies and the board companies.

Insurance spokesmen say the independent and board companies are lined up against the direct writers.

The fight has reached the stage where salesmen are taking less commission in order to help the companies stand the pace.

Auto insurance rates in B.C. came down seven per cent this year, eight per cent last year and nine per cent the year before.

* * *

Industry spokesmen point out that the board firms would charge the class A driver $72.20 a year, the independents $65.40, the direct writers $66.20 and breakaway independents $61.10.

With the same policy and the same class of car, class 1B drivers would pay $90.50 to the board companies, $88.10 to the independents, and $109.70 to the mail order man. The breakaway independents wouldn't write the policy at all.

WELFARE OFFICIALS APPROVE

Boys' Town at Fairbridge Farm Proposed by B.C. Legionnaires

Former Fairbridge Farm School near Duncan may be developed as a home for boys by the B.C. Command of the Canadian Legion.

The provincial command, meeting in Vancouver over the weekend, approved a plan which would see the farm developed similar to the famed Boys' Town, in Nebraska.

Studies have yet to be made on financing, and it is not known whether the farm can be leased or purchased.

Rehabilitation at Boys' Town is based on kindness and fair treatment. The youths are not guarded nor locked in.

Fairbridge Farm operated from 1935 to 1940 as a school for underprivileged boys and girls from Britain. It closed in 1949. It is now leased for cattle raising.

Local welfare and juvenile authorities here have expressed support to the Legion scheme.

Early Start On Hospital At Ladysmith

LADYSMITH — Construction of a new hospital for the city likely will begin this year, it was reported at the annual meeting of Ladysmith Hospital Association.

The city and district's share of necessary funds—$100,000—is practically in hand. Total cost of the proposed structure will be about $300,000.

Don McKay, vice-president of the board of trustees and treasurer of the Hospital Foundation, reported the new hospital fund now stands at $97,579 in cash and pledges—$88,482 being in cash. He said $700 in bank interest will be received shortly to push the cash total past the $89,000 mark.

Don McKinnon, hospital administrator, reported that working drawings and specifications for the new hospital will be ready by the end of this month so that tenders may be called at any time after that date.

Before tenders can be called, however, the board must provide satisfactory evidence to the government that the community's $100,000 share is available either in cash or in cash and pledges secured by a bank, and it must have an operating budget for the new hospital acceptable to BCHIS.

One budget had been prepared, Mr. McKinnon said, but at the request of BCHIS another is being drafted.

SCOUT ACTIVITIES

By FREEMAN KING

District Scoutmaster Jim Redwood showed the official jamboree film to the Cub Pack at Queen Alexandra Solarium on Saturday morning.

All the boys in this pack are handicapped and some of them are in a cast and have to do their cub work from their beds. In spite of the difficulties the boys are keen on their work and able to pass tests.

Scouter Redwood has been running the pack for the past two years. During the meeting, which the Girl Guides and Brownies attended, Mrs. G. Seaton, Akela from the Ladysmith pack, presented Bobby Bertram with his Second Star. Bobby has had to do most of his work from his bed.

★ ★ ★

THIRD VICTORIA TROOP: On Friday evening the Cub pack attended, and a "going-up" ceremony was held. Stewart Dale and Ralph Gustafsen went on to the troop. Akela Winnie Bennett presented each one with a copy of Tenderfoot to Queen's Scout to help them along the scouting trail.

★ ★ ★

CHINESE TROOP: Plans were made at the regular meeting for the weekend camp next week. The troop will go out on Friday and return Sunday.

Henry Quan, Ken Yuen and Ron Marr received their bookbinders badge, and Henry Quan his artist badge. A number of service stars was presented. Second Garry Yee was put in charge of the ticket sale for the Scouterama.

★ ★ ★

TILLICUM TROOP held a father and son banquet Friday. About 20 dads were entertained by the boys. Scouter Bob Webb welcomed the guests.

★ ★ ★

QUALICUM BEACH: The group is holding a bottle drive on Wednesday, April 4. The boys want pop and beer bottles. The group committee is arranging to have them picked up and delivered. Cubmaster Rev. W. H. Bulloch reports 27 boys in the Cub Pack.

DUNCAN: Colonel M. E. Dopping-Hepenstal, honorary district commissioner, presented seven Duncan Scouts with their Queen's Scout badges on Sunday afternoon at the city hall.

The badges went to Allan Hudson, Michael Hansen, Michael Jaggers, David Goodacre, Raymond Cleugh, Richard Marshall and Fred Nicolsen.

These Scouts will attend the certificate presentation to be held at Government House on April 15. Lieutenant-Governor Frank Ross will present them.

Grace Kelly's New Domain Once Was Impregnable Fortress

EDITOR'S NOTE: The biggest wedding in a long time will be held in the smallest country in the world next month. What kind of place is Monaco? Here, in the first of four stories, is a graphic descriptive of the tiny principality. Other articles will profile Prince Rainier III and Grace Kelly, and tell of preparations for the ceremony itself.

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
Associated Press Staff Writer

Set like a tiny gem on the mild blue waters of the Mediterranean, with the chilly majesty of the maritime Alps rising behind it, is Monaco—where next month the prince will marry the beautiful commoner in the culmination of a fairy tale romance.

For almost a thousand years Monaco has managed to remain an independent state. One reason, no doubt, is its size. The smallest state in the world, it occupies 370 acres.

"My most difficult job," sighs Marcel Palmaro, Monaco's consul-general in New York, "is to get people to understand that my country isn't just a gambling casino."

COUNTRY OF HOTELS

It is a difficult job, for while Monaco is much more than the tables at Monte Carlo, it still is essentially a country of hotels and resorts, thriving on tourists. It exports, perfumes and liqueurs, oranges and olive oil, ceramics and postage stamps, but mostly it imports travellers, preferably with money.

Yet this land whose ruling Prince Rainier III soon will marry movie actress Grace Kelly is a sovereign state, even though in miniature. It has a national anthem, on the style of France's Marseillaise, but a little gayer. It has a standing army—of 65 men in skyblue uniforms who double as palace guards and the police force. It has a flag of red and white.

It also, of course, has its Victorian gambling palace. But for some years this has been a rather ghostly structure, its gilt flaking, its red plush wearing smooth, its habitues often on the dowdy side.

Only its legend of glamor is still intact. In spite of craps tables surrounded by tourists in sports clothes and walking shoes, it isn't hard to imagine the casino in the days when it was the playground of elegantly garbed royalty and extremely well-heeled society.

Its history, also in miniature, is almost as bloody and exciting as its giant neighbors: France, which surrounds it on three sides, and Italy, a few kilometres away.

ONCE FEUDAL STATE

In the old days Monaco was a small feudal state whose most important asset was a granite headland, today called Monaco Ville, which pushes into the sea. This headland made an impregnable fortress, easily defended against aggression from land or sea.

The Grimaldi line, which originated in nearby Genoa, has ruled the principality for more than 600 years except for 21 years during the French revolution.

The first Grimaldi gained admission by disguising himself as a Franciscan monk. Inside, he raised a rumpus, diverting the ruling German lords long enough to permit his followers to enter and conquer the fortress.

Once entrenched, the Grimaldis depended on brain and brawn to remain. They made shrewd political alliances, most often with France, and usually turned up on the winning side. Through wise marriages, they allied themselves with some of the richest, most powerful and noble houses in Europe. They made brave knights in the forces of various rulers protecting their domain.

In the 16th century, in return for favors rendered under Spanish protection, a Grimaldi was given the right to collect tolls from ships passing Monaco's port. This painless means of filling the royal coffers was unequalled until 1861, when Rainier III's great-great grandfather set up a gambling concession in Monte Carlo, one of the principality's three towns.

GRACE and RAINIER . . . formal portrait.

TAXES ABOLISHED

Eight years after the "Sea Bathers and Foreigners Club of Monaco" was founded, Monaco abolished direct taxes. Ten years later it attracted 150,000 visitors; in 1910, half a million. It was the beginning of the Monaco legend.

Through the Victorian period until the First World War, Monte Carlo was the world's most fabulous playground. They still tell of the day when the beautiful "Otero," an actress, won eight billion gold francs at the casino; of the time a bored Russian archduchess imported an entire corps de ballet from St. Petersburg to dance while she gambled. And they still spin tales of breaking the bank at Monte Carlo—although the only time the bank was really busted came after the Second World War, when customers failed to show up and the sea bathing society was losing about $1,000,000 a year.

By 1948, it was obvious Monaco was in trouble. After two wars, there were few crowned heads left to disport themselves in the resort. Rival gaming halls, in Nice and Cannes, cut into what was left of the gambling business. There still was no direct taxation, but the income was coming from a government monopoly on cigarets, matches and a brisk business in postage stamps.

Prince Rainier ascended the throne in these critical times. And shortly after the principality acquired its new prince, the sea bathing sociey got a new boss: a slightly mysterious Greek with an Argentine passport and a $300,000,000 shipping fortune. His name: Aristotle Socrates Onassis.

At the moment, Monaco's prospects appear great, although not as a result of Onassis' plans. Tourist business has taken a brisk upward turn, due entirely to the forthcoming marriage.

Moderates Win All Seats In Tunis Vote

TUNIS (AP) — Tunisia's moderate national front today appeared to have won all 98 seats in the Constituent Assembly.

Only 7 per cent of the North African country's 750,000 registered voters heeded a call from the extremist wing of the Neo-Destour (Independence) party to boycott the legislative elections on Saturday. It was the first vote since France promised Tunisia independence.

While France has agreed to give Tunisia independence, the present Neo-Destour government has agreed to work out a future relation of "interdependence" with the French.

Malenkov's Pals Have Vanished Reports From Russia Indicate

LONDON (AP) — The Daily Mail says it has learned that several associates of Georgi Malenkov, former Soviet premier, have suddenly vanished after being removed from their posts.

The newspaper says reports from Russia indicate the men have been arrested in a move by Nikita Khrushchev against Malenkov, who now is on a tour of British power stations.

Malenkov, protege of Stalin, stepped down from the premiership a year ago because of self-confessed failures in office. He now is head of the ministry of power stations.

Khrushchev, chief of the Communist party, is reported to have called the late dictator a murderer and bungler in a speech in Moscow Feb. 25.

The Mail says the missing officials include V. M. Andrianov, the chief of the Communist party in the Leningrad area; F. A. Mamonov, former committee chairman of Alma-Ata, capital of the central Asian republic of Kazakhstan; F. M. Prass, former Communist boss in the province of Molotov, and P. I. Titov, first secretary of the Crimea until 1954.

All were members of the central committee of the Communist party and previously had been fired from their posts.

Inco Metals at Work in Canada

Modern telephone cables are made up of many insulated copper wires. These cables can handle several thousand telephone calls simultaneously. Copper for nearly 75% of our telephone cables is mined, milled, smelted and refined by Inco right here in Canada. Then it goes to other Canadian companies for the manufacture of wire and cable. This cable is sold to telephone companies for installation in underground systems, like the one shown here, or in overhead telephone lines. All these operations make jobs for Canadian workmen.

Cables like this, made from INCO COPPER, handle thousands of telephone calls at once!

. . . and help provide jobs for Canadians

First, the ore from Inco's mines near Sudbury, Ontario, is processed in the Inco mill, the Inco smelter and the Inco copper refinery. It helps make jobs for about 18,000 Inco employees.

Next, the refined copper is sold to Canadian companies that manufacture copper wire and cable. There, Inco copper helps provide jobs for several thousand more employees.

Then, the cable goes to Canadian telephone companies where it helps make jobs for many thousands more Canadians.

Inco produces over 250,000,000 pounds of copper a year. And more than half of this copper goes to Canadian industries. Almost 75% of the telephone lines in Canada are made from Inco copper. From the ore to the finished cable, this Inco copper stays in Canada and helps provide employment for Canadians.

Board Rejects Move to Bar Hospital Staff

LADYSMITH — For the second year in succession, Ladysmith Hospital Association at its annual meeting Friday defied the BCHIS in refusing to adopt a by-law that would bar employees from membership in the association.

The by-law was one of a set of proposed new by-laws prepared by the board at the request of BCHIS officials. Others passed with only a few minor amendments.

One by-law approved by the meeting provides that persons who have contributed $50 or more to the society may be elected life members. If this by-law is finally adopted, it will mean that about 700 persons in Ladysmith and district would become eligible for life membership as soon as the Hospital Foundation turns over the funds collected for the new hospital.

The offending by-law read: "Notwithstanding any other provision of these by-laws, no employee of the hospital shall be eligible for membership in the society."

NULLIFY FIRST

As most of the present hospital employees have contributed more than $50 to the new hospital fund, this by-law would nullify the effect of the first.

At the annual meeting last year a draft of a set of by-laws was presented and it included a section barring employees from membership. It was tossed out by the meeting at that time.

D. H. McKay, board member, said he had been told that the reason why BCHIS was insistent on this section being included was because there had been actual cases in B.C. where members of a hospital staff had packed an annual meeting and had voted in a new board of trustees because they objected to actions taken by the old board.

"However, it is your meeting and it is up to you to do what you want with these by-laws," Mr. McKay said.

He added that, if the meeting decided to delete this one particular section, it should appoint a special committee to interview the minister in an effort to have the remainder of the by-laws approved.

"It's rank discrimination. I can't understand the reason for it. It doesn't make any sense," Axel Anderson, a former board member, said.

H. Duncan, X-ray technician at the hospital, also objected strongly. Many members of the staff had contributed generously to the hospital fund, he said, and this ruling would bar them from life membership.

"Civic employees are not barred from voting for city council members," he pointed out.

At noon they lunch at Government House with His Honor and Mrs. Ross. The presentation ceremony will be held at 2.30 p.m.

SEARCH CONTINUES

Did Plane Slam Into Mountain?

VANCOUVER (CP) — The air-sea search for two pilots missing in their T-33 jet trainer since Thursday will continue today, RCAF officials here said Monday night.

Aboard the craft were FO Gerald Stubbs, 32, and FO James E. Miller, 23, whose wives and children live at the Comox air base on Vancouver Island, 100 miles northwest of here.

RCAF searchers now surmise the jet slammed into a mountainside in thick cloud and mist. Had it landed in Georgia Strait or on some islands near Comox as first believed, some trace would have been found by now, they said.

They speculated mechanical trouble forced the jet low among the mountains and out of reach of radar. The plane last appeared on radar screens about 25 miles from its base with about an hour's fuel left. There was no radio contact.

Labor Shortage Looming When Woods Open Up

NANAIMO — A drastic labor shortage is expected here when logging camps open, according to J. H. Fox, National Employment Office manager here.

Intermittent snow at higher levels has stopped companies from opening on an "all-out" basis, but up to 50 per cent of the loggers in the area now are at work.

"With only nine months remaining in the year to supply daily consumption and 'stock pile' for next winter's operations, the demand for labor is expected to exceed the supply by far," said Mr. Fox.

At the month end most of the snow is off the logging roads and as soon as they are fit for travel work will resume with full crews. Log supplies are low and all operations will be operating with as large a crew as possible. There is at present no shortage of skilled labor for logging operations in the Nanaimo area.

Due to a log shortage, 70 men were laid off for an indefinite period from the Parks Mill. Orders for lumber both local and overseas shipments are good and a busy season is ahead for the local sawmills. At present there are no vacancies listed for either unskilled or skilled occupations.

NEW YORK (AP) — The YMCA today announced a gift of $500,000 from John D. Rockefeller, Jr., to help recruit and train YMCA staff members.

Woman Who Named Saseenos Kaltasin Road, Dies at 98

She died Thursday at her home on the Sooke reservation, where she was born.

Bereaved in 1895 when her husband, two brothers, and other crew members drowned in the sinking of the sealing schooner "Walker Earl," she supported her five sons and two daughters by picking hops, fishing for crabs and working in the local cannery.

Mrs. George also named Kaltasin road for the Indian word meaning "steaming holes," where Indians at one time steamed clams.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Josephine Hull; three sons, Harry, Edward and Louie, the latter being acting chief of Sooke band

Temporary Repeal Asked For Meat Inspection Law

Temporary repeal of Victoria's Meat Inspection By-law until a city-operated inspection service can be set up in the city market today was advocated by Mayor Percy Scurrah.

He said, following a meeting with a delegation of Saanich farmers, that he will suggest such a course to council.

An eight-man sub-committee of the South Saanich Farmers' Institute headed by dairyman Robert Godfrey, presented argument showing the present by-law will work a hardship on local meat producers.

The by-law, passed last fall, on Union Board of Health recommendation, makes it illegal to sell uninspected meat in Victoria after May 1.

Council passed it on the understanding, according to some aldermen, that the provincial government would set up inspection centres. Government officials have since denied this and placed the onus on local farmers to pay costs of such a service.

The added cost to the producer would make it impossible to compete with mainland producers, a farmers' spokesman said.

William Adrain, secretary-manager South Island Dairymen's Association, said mainland inspection centres are set up by the federal government.

5 PER CENT

Mayor Scurrah said after the meeting he had been in contact with the provincial agriculture department and had learned that of 400,000 pounds of meat shipped into the city every week, 5 per cent is produced in the area surrounding the city.

"Vancouver, Kelowna and Kamloops have meat inspection by-laws where a local veterinarian is employed as inspector and costs are covered by an inspection charge. We are sending to those centres for information."

Meantime, he said, "I suggest repeal of the present by-law and setting up of a new by-law along the lines of those in effect and working satisfactorily."

NECESSARY STEP

He said the local farmers are not objecting to an inspection centre. They feel such a step is necessary.

They would like to have a central inspection centre . . . "and I am suggesting the market building. Operation costs would have to be met from an inspection fee and a veterinarian would have to be hired by the city at least on a part-time basis."

News stories you'll never read:

Tootsie, a small black-and-tan puppy of unknown ancestry, was the key figure in a fire which totally destroyed a home in suburban Victoria last night.

When the fire broke out, the owners, Mr. and Mrs. E. Floogel, were not home. But Tootsie was. Tootsie was sleeping in her kennel, about 20 feet from the house.

As the house is in an isolated area, neighbors did not notice the blaze until it was beyond control. They called firemen who put the fire out but not before all the furnishings had been destroyed.

The neighbors paid high tribute to Tootsie. "She is a good dog," they said. "She has been trained not to bark and disturb us at night, so she very carefully kept her mouth shut even though her owner's home was burning to the ground."

There is no hesitation in the mind of $555,000 sweepstake winner Aloysius J. Floogel as to how he will use the money.

"I am not a bit surprised that I won," he said today. "I was expecting it, and I have planned accordingly."

Asked what he was going to do with the $555,000, Mr. Floogel said:

"I am going to blow it all on riotous living."

The latest report on Cadborosaurus, Victoria's famed sea-serpent, comes from a resident of the Oak Bay area who wishes to remain anonymous.

"I saw a strange sight today," the resident said. "The water out toward Trial Island was disturbed, and I saw what appeared to be a long, serpentine series of loops.

"Whatever it was was moving through the water at a rate of knots, so I rushed up to the house and got my binoculars and my camera, which happens to be equipped with a telescopic lens.

"I adjusted the binoculars to my eyes, focussed on this strange marine wonder, saw it was a school of blackfish, used my camera to take a picture of the Olympic mountains which I hope to sell to the Times for page four, and went home and made a cup of tea."

Strait swim challenger Filbert "Forty-Degree" Floogel today gave frank answers to frank questions about his aspirations.

Asked if he was attempting the swim because of the challenge it offered, he said "Gracious, no, I'm just in it for the money."

"Do you think you will make it?" he was asked.

Mr. Floogel flexed his biceps reflectively and said: "Make it? The tides are tough, the winds are rough, the water is cold, it's a long way. Nevertheless, taking everything into consideration, including my physical condition, my coach, and my navigator, I am convinced I'm licked before I start."

Saanich Liberals Called to Meeting

SIDNEY GAVE WARM WELCOME to ferry Klickitat, making first trip of season from Anacortes, Wash. (Photo by Vance Buhler, Sidney.)

DAFFS, GIFTS FOR FERRY PATRONS

My. Klickitat of Washington State Ferries made its first trip of the year Monday between Anacortes and Sidney, with members of the Sidney village commission and Chamber of Commerce on hand to welcome the first passengers.

A card of welcome, a daffodil and small gift were given each of the visitors.

Patronage on the first trip was "encouraging," according to C. E. Blaney, Victoria representative for the ferry organization.

Skipper of the vessel is Capt. Sigvalde Sande. Schedule calls for one trip daily through May 24, then two trips daily through June 14, and three trips daily to Sept. 4. On Sept. 5 the schedule will drop back to two trips daily to Oct. 16, when the service will stop for the year.

BANKER'S WIFE REAPS $60 CROP

Gonzales Garden 'Grows' Money

A banker can be expected to have a certain amount of interest in money, but S. Dudley Markham, manager of the Toronto-Dominion bank . . . e, seems to be carrying things to extremes.

To all intents and purposes, he appears to be growing gold coin in his rock garden.

Discovery was made by Mrs. Markham, when she was casting a critical eye on the rockery with a view to adding a few plants.

A glitter caught her eye, and she picked up a tiny object — smaller in diameter than the old Canadian nickel — and, when dusted off, it proved to be an 1852 United States of America $1 gold piece.

How it got there, or whether it had lain there for 100 years or more, is not known.

The Markhams' home, at 66 Sylvan Lane, Gonzales Hill, was built 30 years ago. Mrs. Markham thinks the coin might have been dropped by an Indian, at the turn of the century or before, when a cattle trail wound through the forest at that point.

The coin is quite rare, and is thought to be worth up to $60 as a collector's item.

Tax System Criticized; Arbitration Asked

Saanich council, protesting the provincial government's school taxation system, Monday night decided to arbitrate school estimates of School District 61 and 63.

Councillors asked for appointment of arbitration boards for each district on three grounds:

1. Because the budgets are too high.

2. Because the school estimates didn't give an adequate breakdown of expenditures.

3. Because the provincial government has refused to accept full responsibility for school costs.

Reeve Arthur Ash was empowered by council to recommend a Saanich representative for the boards.

School District 61 (Greater Victoria) and District 63 (outer Saanich) each will name representatives to the respective arbitration boards.

They will choose impartial chairmen.

APRIL 10 WINDUP

The arbitration proceedings, by law, must be concluded by April 10.

Meanwhile, city council was scheduled to meet this afternoon with school board representatives to discuss estimates.

Council last week objected to the city's share of school costs because they were up $603,000 from last year.

SILENT PROTEST

Oak Bay and Esquimalt have "received and filed" their portions of the budget, declining to inform the board they have approved them.

This is considered a silent protest. Under legal provisions, if councils don't approve the budgets within a specified time, they are automatically considered approved.

The Saanich protest came after councillors learned the municipality's share of the 61 budget is $513,418, an increase of $95,000 over last year. District 63 estimates are up $11,047 for a total budget of $73,594.

Coun. Les Passmore said the only fair way to raise taxes for schools was through a provincial income tax.

Coun. Ronald Grant said it was "about time the people woke up" to what the government was doing in the taxation field.

"It is quite obvious that the government's Equalization Act is designed to place the tax burden upon municipalities which in turn has to be borne by ratepayers.

"Something should be done to make the people aware of what is going on," he added.

Reeve Ash said if school taxes continued to rise, people would rebel against the system of taxation.

The reeve said Saanich lost about $200,000 in grants as the result of the Equalization Act.

Consent Given Soldier Says At Rape Trial

Gerard Joseph Green, 21, of the Queen's Own Rifles of Canada, charged with rape, denied in Assize Court today he assaulted a 17-year-old girl in her Hillside Avenue home on September 11 last year.

The short dark-haired soldier, from Kingston, Ont., admitted to an all-male jury of having sexual relations with the girl, but claimed it was with her consent.

Green was called to the witness stand by his lawyer, Alan Macfarlane, to testify in his own defence at noon today.

Green said he first met the girl while looking for a friend on Hillside. She was standing on the porch of her house, he said.

The soldier claimed she invited him into the house and asked him not to make too much noise because there were two RCMP constables rooming in the house.

He said they chatted for awhile about their homes and friends and the teen ager finally took a picture of her boy friend and sat down beside him on the chesterfield.

"She leaned into my arms and we became very friendly and started necking," he said.

Green denied throwing the girl on the floor and telling her "to shut up or I'll kill you."

The girl Monday in evidence said that the soldier knocked at the house door and asked her to use the telephone to get transportation to Gordon Head. She said she admitted him into the house thinking the two RCMP constables were sleeping below.

Detective Ray Maitland of city police testified that when he first saw the girl after the alleged assault she was in a highly nervous state.

Before meeting the girl, said Green, he had a few drinks in a local tavern, but was comparatively sober. He said he was not a heavy drinker.

Murder Suspect Was Held In Nazi Internment Camp

Czeslaw (Chester) Pupkowski, 42, charged with the murder of his 38-year-old wife Saturday afternoon, is a butcher by trade and was confined to a Nazi interment camp during the Second World War, it was learned today.

The Polish-speaking immigrant was charged with murdering his wife, Cecelia, less than seven hours after her battered slashed body was found in the family home at 128 Clarence.

Police discovered the body shortly before 3 p.m. Saturday.

Pupkowski has been remanded to Tuesday, April 3, when a date for preliminary hearing on the murder charge will be set.

Meanwhile, a coroner's inquest into the death has been set for Wednesday at 10 a.m. at Thompson Funeral Home.

No funeral arrangements have been made yet.

Little is known about the background of the family.

However, it was learned Pupkowski owned a butcher shop in Poland. He was placed in a Nazi interment camp when the Germans invaded Poland.

Friends said the family came to Canada about five years ago. They had been in Victoria for four years.

They went from Poland to Germany and lived a short time in Australia before coming to Canada. A son died either in Poland or Germany.

Another son, Milo, eight, came to Canada with his mother and father. He was away from home Saturday when the killing occurred and has been placed in a foster home under family welfare service.

Contestants were from other Toastmaster organizations, schools, other groups and speakers competing as individuals.

Second place was won by Robert Jupe and third place by Ralph Dumbleton. Toastmaster area governor Walter Margetts presided and the presentation was by Ted Booth. Chairman of the golden gavel competition was J. E. Adams.

Other finalists were HMCS Venture Cadet Keith Davies, Robert Breadon, Mrs. Pearl de Bourcier, Gordon Mason, and Edward Vaughan.

Five Soldiers Get Suspended Terms

Five men charged with breaking and entering and theft at Malahat Texaco Service Station on March 18 were given suspended sentences in Colwood RCMP court Monday.

They are Alexander Hill Brown, Jean Claude Gareau, James Jones, Ronald Bye and William Smith, all of Gordon Head Army Camp.

All were arrested March 18 less than 16 hours after the garage had been broken into and $4 in small change reported missing from a cash drawer.

The service station is situated just south of the Malahat Chalet.

The men had rented a U-drive at Victoria and had run out of gas near the service station.

Bridge Vote Delay Ex-Alderman's Plan

A former city alderman has written City Council to protest reconstruction of Point Ellice Bridge until proposals for setting up a metropolitan area in Greater Victoria have been thrashed out.

John Worthington, who retired from council in 1946, says a report on the feasibility of a municipal union is now under study. He feels the bridge should await a decision on this plan. If the metropolitan area is formed, the whole district would then carry the cost, he stated.

A plebiscite on the proposed $500,000 construction will be held April 5.

LOCATION POOR

Mr. Worthington said he does not agree with the location, ". . . as it may restrict harbor development."

"If the bridge is erected at this time it will be paid for wholly by Victoria taxpayers even though the money is being allocated from sale of lands."

Meanwhile the Victoria Gyro Club at a meeting Monday passed a resolution of support of the plebiscite for the new bridge.

A spokesman said the club felt the new bridge will be good for local industry and therefore will be good for the city."

Mayor Percy Scurrah will address a public meeting at Victoria West community hall Wednesday at 8 p.m. on the bridge question.

Sharing the program will be secretary of the Victoria Town Planning Commission, Mrs. Elsie Shepherd who will talk on the city's proposed 1956 zoning by-law.

Its main effect on Victoria West will be to extend the area reserved for industry.

ASK The TIMES

Q.—The proposal of the establishment of a Canadian coast guard is being discussed again in the House of Commons. How long ago was the coast guard established in the United States?—L. D. G.

A.—The U.S. Coast Guard was established as a government unit in 1915, when it replaced and absorbed the duties of the Revenue Cutter Service and the Life Saving Service. The Revenue Cutter Service (initially called the Revenue Marine) was created in 1790 at the suggestion of Alexander Hamilton for aiding customs collectors. The Life Saving Service, established in 1871, took over all privately managed life saving stations, and until 1878, when it was given the status of an independent bureau in the Treasury Department, was operated by the Revenue Cutter Service.

INCOME TAX TIPS—CONTROVERSIAL SUBJECT

Salesmen Must Keep Provable Records of Expense

By GORDON HOLMS
Member of the Institute of Chartered Accountants

Many are the jokes about travelling salesmen but when it comes to paying income tax the salesman at least has nothing to joke about. Throughout the year he must maintain accurate records of his sales and expenses in order to satisfy the income tax collector.

Here, expenses are a controversial subject on both sides, with the salesman hard pressed to regain his total expenses and the income tax assessor demanding a reasonable approach and concrete proof.

Basically, the formula is that you may deduct amounts expended in the tax year for the purpose of earning income. But the expenses claimed as deductions must be reasonable and must not exceed the commissions earned.

Qualities which make a good salesman often make poor bookkeeper. So here is a warning to him to keep accurate and provable records of expenses. A daily diary showing his travels (mileage) and all other expenses is a good record.

It is a prudent salesman who collects all possible receipts to substantiate his claims for travel, hotel and other expenses incidental to selling.

All of this, of course, applies to the salesman who mus work away from his employer's place of business and pay his own expenses, and is paid wholly or in part on a commission basis or on the basis of volume of sales or contracts negotiated.

Again as in the case of car expenses for professional men (see Monday's column) no flat rate can be charged. Vouchers of actual expenses are required.

The salesman, too, may deduct a portion of the depreciation on his car. The deduction is based on the extent to which his car is used for earning his income.

Tomorrow: Real Estate Sales.

SQUARE MEAL DIET

Counting Calories Important

By MRS. DOLORES I. ELLIOTT

Here's the last of a seven-day diet on keeping your weight in check with a "square meal diet," prepared by a consumer specialist for the National Dairy Council:

If you carry your lunch when you're dieting, take cold sliced meats or fowl or eggs or cheese or a combination of these, with lettuce and one thin or two very thin slices slices of lightly buttered bread or two crackers.

You can also take tomato, carrots, celery, lettuce, radishes or green pepper rings, and/or fresh fruits in season.

Order a half pint of milk or take it in a vacuum bottle.

Clear hot soups carry well in a vacuum bottle, too. Mixed salads travel well in plastic or paper cups in cool weather.

BREAKFAST

½ cup orange sections
1 poached egg
1 thin slice toast
1 medium pat butter

DINNER

Large serving roast chicken
No dressing
½ cup Brussels sprouts
½ medium pat butter
1 tbsp. cranberry sauce
½ cup cucumber and onion
¾ cup whole milk
1 medium pear

SUPPER

Broiled sandwich
2 medium slices cheese
1 slice toast, no bacon
1 tomato on lettuce
¾ cup whole milk
(Last of a series.)

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

The tissues around the eyes age prematurely if not given special care. This process can be minimized and delayed with intelligent and constant attention.

Practically every women past 30 needs an eye cream. This should be patted on, NOT rubbed on, the only exception being the rotary motion along crows feet at the corners of the eyes. You can really iron these out to a great extent with this treatment.

There are many fine eye creams on the market. You have a wide choice. Many new ideas constantly are popping up. One cream is famous for keeping the moisture in the skin for it helps prevent evaporation of the moisture. Then there are the vitamins and hormone creams.

No matter what cream or oil you choose apply it every single night. Once a week will not bring you results. Daily application will dim the lines and delay the formation of new ones. These small daily routines are extremely important.

Also, wear sun glasses when out on glaring days. Eye squinting speeds the formation of lines about the eyes. Extremes in weather are also aging to our skin and especially to such delicate tissues as those about our orbs. We should give our skin special care during exposure to very hot or very cold weather.

If you would like to have my leaflet about blackheads and pimples send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for "Clear the Way for Beauty," leaflet No. 48. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

SERVICE FOR THE AGED

Low-Rent Accommodation, Health Care and Recreation All Needed

A planned community service for aging citizens must include all who need help, regardless of ability to pay. The program should be organized to keep the elderly active and interested and it should include progressive steps in care from small low-rental housing for married or single people, through boarding house type of care to chronic hospitals and full bedside nursing.

These were facts established in the discussion on "Community Resources for Our Aging Citizens" sponsored by the civic interest group of Victoria Business and Professional Women's Club, Monday evening in the clubroom.

Speakers were F. G. Hope, manager of Kiwanis Village who talked on housing the aged; Miss Elizabeth Riddell, director of nursing, Victoria Branch of the Victorian Order of Nurses, who told of different types of nursing care for the elderly; Mrs. C. C. Warren, member of the board of the Gorge Road Hospital, who described the function and the work of that hospital; Dr. Henrietta Anderson, who spoke on recreational activities for aging citizens, and William Hooson, city welfare administrator who gave an over-all picture of present community resources for the aged and the gaps in these resources.

Club president, Mrs. Marguerite Laughlin welcomed more than 80 members and friends to the meeting and introduced Miss Ella Brett, chairman of the civic interest group. Miss Brett introduced the moderator of the discussion, Miss Verna Beck, who in turn presented the speakers. A question period followed.

Mrs. Laughlin presided at a supper meeting prior to the discussion. Seated with her at the head table were Miss Riddell, Mrs. Warren, Dr. Anderson, Mr. Hope, Mr. Hooson, Miss Brett, Miss Beck, Mrs. M. F. Smith, president of the University Women's Club, and Mrs. Bessie Smith, immediate past president of the BPW Club.

Announcement was made that at a meeting of the five island clubs in Nanaimo last Sunday, Mrs. Bessie Smith was elected regional director for Vancouver Island to take office following the national convention in Montreal in July.

National Council President Takes Stand on Visit of Russian Women

MONTREAL (CP) — Mrs. Allan Turner-Bone, president of the 600,000-member National Council of Women, said today that all federated societies in Canada should avoid identifying themselves with a proposed visit in May of six Russian women.

"These women are coming here under the sponsorship of the Canadian Congress of Women . . . which has its national headquarters in Berlin," Mrs. Turner-Bone said. "we must take steps to avoid Communist infiltration into our council.

"People who are not aware of the congress can be led astray by the name. The congress members are paid by the Russian government. Our own National Council of Women, as the largest and oldest organization across Canada, must take steps to avoid any possible embarassment."

Mrs. Turner-Bone said that various outstanding women in Canada had already been approached by the congress to hold receptions and teas for the Russian women.

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books? Then ask Andy?

Andy, who is a pixie, not a person, will answer two questions daily submitted by child readers of Canada and the U.S. Children who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive as prizes, for the main question, either a 16-volume set of "The Children's Hour" or a 20-volume set of "The American People's Encyclopedia." Prizes for the secondary question will be an "American People's Encyclopedia Year Book" or a year's subscription to "Treasure Trails" plus "Andy's Everyday Encyclopedia."

Address your questions to "Ask Andy" Victoria Daily Times, Victoria.

Andy sends a complete, 16-volume set of The Children's Hour to Billy Mitchell, aged 10, of Philadelphia, Penn., for his question:

How Does a Bird Hear?

Everyone who has a parakeet usually wonders how the little darling can hear. He certainly must hear. For he cocks his head when you talk to him. His bright eyes seem to understand everything you say to him. And, if he is a budgie, maybe he even talks right back to you. He has a chesty voice and he can copy your words and the way in which you say them.

But, he seems to have no ears, so how does he hear? Actually, he does have ears, and very sharp ones. You just cannot see them. He doesn't have two pink shells like your ears nor does he have furry ears like a cat. Maybe you thought you did all your hearing with those two shell-like ears on the side of your head. Not at all. The outside ears just help a little. The real hearing job is done by the ear parts inside your head.

Each outer ear has its inner ear. The inner ear is a wonderful and complex body organ. It is a sort of small roller coaster of tiny tubes. The little tubes are partly filled with fluid. A great nerve runs from the brain to this part of the ear. Its ends spread into countless fibers. The fibers, like little hairs, dip into the ear fluid.

Sounds are carried from the outer ear through a canal. The sounds make vibrations which disturb the liquid in the inner ear. The nerve fibers catch these vibrations. They relay them to the brain. The brain sorts them out without even bothering you. It has the answer, knows what they mean in a split second. That sound is a train whistle. Another is Joe going down the street on his roller skates. That is mother "soup's on!"

You might lose the outer part of your ear and the inner ear could still do its work. That is why Bill's parakeet Oscar needs no outer ears. He has small openings in his skin which carry the sound to his inner ears. You can't see them because they are covered with neat feathers. Take Andy's word for this. For, if you poke around to find his ear openings, you might hurt him.

Most birds have very good hearing. Did you ever try to sneak up on a robin? True, his eyes are placed on each side of his head where he can see a great deal and in several directions. But his ears, his inner ears, reported your footsteps.

A woodcock, they say, can even hear a worm crawling along under the ground. An owl cannot see in total darkness. But he can hear well enough to catch a scampering mouse in that same total darkness.

Andy sends a copy of The American Peoples Encyclopedia Yearbook to Jean Webster, age 13, of Ottawa, Canada, for her question:

What is natural gas?

Nowadays, many kitchen ranges are fueled with natural gas. This gas is made deep in the rocky crust of the earth. Most of it occurs near pools of underground petroleum and rocks steeped in petroleum. Some of it escapes through cracks in the ground and is lost in the air. Some is let out of its prison by drilling.

Natural gas is mostly methane gas. This gas is also known as marsh gas and the dangerous mine gas. There are almost always other gases mixed with the methane. Often there are traces of butane, putane, nitrogen and helium gases.

Some of these combinations of gases make better fuels than others. The best mixtures are led off and piped for hundreds of miles. Installing the pipes is a very expensive job. But, when the expense is over, the natural gas fuel is very inexpensive as compared with coal, which has to be mined. A hundred cubic feet of good natural gas has fuel power equal to about 13 pounds of coal.

Girls Flock To Puck Tryout In Toronto

TORONTO (CP).—About 40 girls between 7 and 14 years turned out last week for the first of three tryouts the Little Toronto Hockey League is holding to form an all-girl hockey league next year.

Earl Graham, league chairman, said he was surprised at the ability some of the girls showed.

The move to form a girls' league started two weeks ago when nine-year-old Abigail Hoffman, who was masquerading as a boy, got appointed to the LTHL all-star team.

"I have the names of 100 girls who want to play hockey," Mr. Graham said. "By next year we should have four teams of girls with women coaches."

Police Wage Talks Stalemated

Esquimalt Union Asks Arbitration; Wurtele's Veto Threat Under Fire

Esquimalt police wage talks slowed to a standstill in a meeting with police commission Monday and the union announced it will apply for a conciliation officer to arbitrate the dispute.

All three parties involved—union, commission and council—are at a stalemate, and adding to the confusion is a disagreement within the commission.

Commissioner Elvan Walters said he cannot negotiate in good faith with the union because of the threatened use of veto by reeve and council on wage recommendations of commissioners.

The reeve, A. C. Wurtele, is also chairman of the police commission.

Mr. Walters said "power from above" threatens to make ineffective any commission recommendation for a higher wage rate than the $10 across-the-board increase offered finally by the commission and turned down by the union.

He said he and third commissioner Don Douglas are partial toward union demands for wage parity with city police, plus 10 per cent for added risk of the 12-member force who also serve as firemen.

Mr. Walters said the reeve will not allow discussion on the union demand for wage parity with Victoria police.

"Grumbling" of reeve and council over wage proposals, which he said started a year ago with the last police wake hike, came to a head at Monday's meeting.

The union offered a brief outlining its demands and comparing Esquimalt wages with those in the city, Oak Bay and Saanich, along with per capita cost of police work.

$306 MONTHLY

Esquimalt police are paid on a scale ranging from about $285 to $340, with first-class constables getting $306 a month. They want the same as recently granted in Victoria, $322 for first-class constables, plus $32 for additional risk.

Reeve Wurtele claims police demands are unrealistic, and said final say in the matter rests with council.

The union, too, criticized the attitude of reeve and council. A statement said:

"The reeve states that no matter what the police commission does in addition to the $10-a-month increase it has already offered, he and the council will veto it."

"If the council and reeve are not interested in looking at the men's point of view," Mr. Walters said, "then I don't think they are acting in good faith."

Natural Gas Policy Rapped By Strachan

The people of B.C. are losing millions through short-sighted government policy on development of natural resources, Robert Strachan (CCF — Cowichan-Newcastle) said Monday night.

He said that natural gas developments are such that cost to the transmission company will be 7½ cents per unit at the wellhead. It will be sold to B.C. Electric for 28 cents and will retail from $1 to $2.

The province will collect only 15 per cent of the wellhead price.

"Saskatchewan, under the CCF, has competitive bidding and the government may be offered as much as 80 per cent in royalties," he stated.

Mr. Strachan spoke to a public meeting at Farmers' Institute Hall, East Saanich Road. It was his first public address since he recently became prime contender for leadership of the CCF in B.C.

He called for a royal commission into provincial agricultural conditions. Farmer buying power has dropped from 110 points in 1951 to 80 points today, he stated. One solution would be to bring into production another 3,000,000 acres of B.C.'s arable land, only 25 per cent now being in use, he said.

Another point which needs investigation, Mr. Strachan went on, was export and import of agricultural products with the United States.

"In potatoes alone we have a six-week export season into the U.S., but they can sell their product in B.C. the year round."

Provincial agricultural policy, he said, should be economy and self-sufficiency in B.C. as far as possible.

In another field, Mr. Strachan criticized Premier Bennett in dealings with Ottawa as "only . . . wanting more money" and not seeking to solve mutual problems on a co-operative basis.

Actress Marisa Pavan Speeds Her Nuptials

They said the Italian-born beauty and Aumont will be married by municipal judge Frank Kearney.

6 IN MEMORIAM

WEBB—In loving memory of Percy Webb, who passed away March 26, 1954.

There is someone who misses you sadly,
And finds the time long since you went.
There is someone who thinks of you always,
And tries to be brave and content.
Gone is the face we loved so dear,
Silent the voice we loved to hear;
'Tis sad, but true, we wonder why,
The best are always the first to die.

—Always remembered by his loving wife, Mary Ann and family and by Charlie and Eva.

SLEEPER?: Warner Bros. Presents, the hour-long Tuesday TV offering by Warner Bros., appears to be coming into its own after a shaky start.

According to the latest figures the show hit its season's all-time high rating in the overnight Trendex on March 13 when it posted an hour average of 16.9 with a 32.8 share of audience for "Survival," co-starring Julie Bishop and Jim Backus.

Warner Bros. also registered its series high in the latest Nielson ratings with 32.7 for "Siege" on Feb. 14, topping both CBS' Phil Silvers with 32.1 and NBC's Martha Raye with a 29.2. This marked the first time any ABC-TV program, excluding Disneyland, ever topped the two highly-rated comedy shows.

$250 in Fines Imposed On 7 Motorists

Seven motorists paid fines totalling $250 when they appeared in court Monday on careless driving charges.

Heaviest penalty was imposed in city court on Henry Robert Harris 395 Walter, who was fined $40 or five days in jail.

Harris pleaded guilty to a careless driving charge laid following withdrawal of a criminally negligent driving count.

Police said Harris was the driver of a car March 21 which crashed into a power pole at Gorge and Harriet, splitting the pole and causing about $600 damages.

Court was told a passenger in the vehicle had become frightened and pulled the steering wheel, the car swerving into the pole.

Also in city court, William R. Thompson, 3606 Cadboro Bay Road, and Andrew Arthur Cordin, 3246 Irma, paid $35 fines on careless driving charges.

In Esquimalt court, Edward J. Wishart, Wishart Road, Colwood; Violet Mines, 992 Gorge West; Remy Lacouee, 897 Swan, and Robert H. Sutherland, each paid $35 fines.

All were involved in recent accidents.

Soldiers' Photo Exhibit to Tour British Columbia

A travelling photo salon by members of the regular army in B.C. will be shown in most cities and towns in the province during summer months, starting about the end of April.

Titled "The Travels of Gulliver," the display was devised by Maj. J. A. Cook and Lieut. W. S. L. McPhee of Vancouver, who conceived the idea of gathering prints taken by soldiers on their different postings throughout the world.

Included among the 90-odd photographs are scenes from Japan, Korea, British Isles, Europe, Indo-China, Canada and the U.S.

All are mounted for eye-appeal and the best will be awarded a $40 prize. Second place winner will get $25.

Carelessness, Ignorance Fire Causes

CHEMAINUS—People are the main cause of fires, Don Watts, chief fire protection officer for MacMillan & Bloedel Ltd., told a meeting here.

People caused fires because they were inherently careless and because they lacked knowledge.

"Most of us are from Missouri. We have to be shown. Fires happen because people do not understand them. Therefore, we must train and educate people in fire prevention," he said.

Three things are needed to have a fire: heat, fuel and oxygen.

"These three form the sides of a triangle and, in their proper proportions, result in fire. They are also the basis for all fire prevention."

Nothing burns as a solid, Mr. Watts explained, but must first be vaporized. It is therefore necessary, in the interests of fire prevention, to find out the flash point of a material, or the temperature at which it gives off sufficient vapor to support combustion.

DEMONSTRATES

The fire protection officer demonstrated some of the methods of controlling fires. Explosive qualities of commodities commonly found around the house and office were also demonstrated. He showed that lighter and cleaning fluid, ether, pine needles, and dust scrapings will explode violently when mixed properly with air and heat.

Mr. Watts said there is "good common sense behind all fire regulations" and that a fire prevention program in industry and a community are vital and necessary."

1,207 Buildings Get Numbers In Langford Area

Allotment of house numbers in Langford Fire Protection District has been completed, Fire Chief Rod Bayles said today.

Numbers have been issued for 1,207 buildings, of which 1,118 are dwellings, he said.

That would put population of the district at about 4,472," he said.

Langford, Glen Lake and a portioin of Happy Valley are ncluded in the district, he said.

There are 60 streets in the area, of which 26 were renamed, and 19 more were changer from "avenue" to "road" and vice versa. Roads will run north and south, and avenues east and west.

Department of highways crews are preparing street signs giving the nem names, he said.

Local C.A.R.S. Clinic Praised at Parley

The Victoria clinic of the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society, located in St. Joseph's Hospital, won high praise at the national C.A.R.S convention in Vancouver last week. Mrs. A. O. Jones, 2595 Macdonald Drive, Victoria representative at the meetings, reported today that local facilities were rated second among the 31 branches of C.A.R.S. throughout the province.

"This places us well up among leaders for the whole continent," Mrs. Jones said.

Dr. R. W. Lamont Havers, former British Columba C.A.R.S. medical director and now associate medical director of the American Rheumatism Foundation in New York, told the convention Canada leads North America in arthritic treatment facilities, and British Columbia leads Canada.

B. H. Rieger, national C.A.R.S. president, said the British Columbia society is the most highly developed in Canada.

British Columbia has more mobile units in operation than any other province, it was reported. Tribute was also paid to the British Columbia government, which contributes more to arthritic work than all the other provinces combined.

One of the lesser known "exports" of Britain to Canada consists of young women trained in physiotherapy — the treatment of muscular and other ailments through massage. Most of the physiotherapists in Western Canada received their training in England. But a growing need for these specialists makes it necessary to increase the number of Canadian trainees.

The Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society today considered plans for expannded schooling facilities for physiotherapists. There are at present only four training schools in Canada. Not only is the demand for treatment of arthritis increasing—the Victoria C.A.R.S. clinic doubled its services last year—but still greater needs are anticipated when the federal health insurance plan comes into effect.

Court Upholds 'Deals' With Subversives

WASHINGTON (AP)—A 1954 law to compel witnesses to give testimony in cases involving national security, in return for immunity from prosecution, was upheld Monday by the United States Supreme Court, 7 to 2.

Justice Felix Frankfurter, speaking for the majority, said the fifth amendment privilege against compulsory self-incrimination ceases when "immunity replaces danger" of prosecution.

Justice William Douglas wrote a dissenting opinion in which he said the framers of the constitution "put it beyond the power of Congress to compel anyone to confess his crimes."

Douglas, whose opinion was concurred in by Justice Hugo Black, said "the privilege of silence is exchanged for a partial, undefined, vague immunity" and that

R. B. Wilson Heads Community Chest

Harry Gladwell to Lead 1956 Campaign; Donations Last Year Met Commitments

Greater Victoria Community Chest started this year with a small credit balance and will have sufficient funds to meet all 1956 commitments, retiring chairman J. Courtney Haddock reported Monday night.

Then with the air of a man who has completed a difficult job he turned over the gavel to 1956 chairman, city businessman R. B. Wilson.

Mr. Haddock said final total of 1955 fund drive collection is $198,595. Canvassers raised $8,219 more than in 1954, although the margin of increase was reduced drastically when city council settled on a $2,000 grant to the chest instead of matching the $6,000 donation of the year previous.

Mr. Haddock, who has served with the chest since 1953, twice as campaign chairman, pointed out that in 1953 funds were raised to cover 1954 expenses for only 10 months. In 1954 the total only met 11 months' expenditure.

PAYMENTS INCREASED

Last year the drive met the 1954 deficit and will also meet a full year's budget. He said this is despite a 35 per cent increase in payments to participating members, over the three-year period.

He said two additional welfare groups have asked membership in the chest this year. They are Muscular Dystrophy Association and the Association for Retarded Children. An unnamed third group is reportedly considering similar action.

"Can we count on the necessary additional public support in dollars at the time of the next campaign," Mr. Haddock asked.

He pointed out that the chest has just made final payment in a 1952 pledge of $25,000 toward the Victoria CNIB centre. This will make $13,909 more available to the 17-member agencies of the chest this year.

CAUTION URGED

He said he thought the chest should be careful in accepting further capital commitments, recommending independent capital drives for such projects. He suggested this might apply to proposed YMCA building plans.

The Chest is faced with two main problems. ". . . We are still not raising sufficient funds . . . the increase in . . . revenues has not kept pace with population increase nor with public demand for extended and additional new services."

Secondly, Greater Victoria is still faced with a multiplicity of appeals, an inconvenience and annoyance to contributors and volunteers alike, he stated.

He looked to the payroll deduction plan as the best way to expand the Chest. Federal and provincial government payrolls should be brought into the scheme, he felt.

CHAIRMEN NAMED

Campaign chairman this year will be Harry W. Gladwell. Elliot Brown will be publicity chairman, and H. G. Craven will head the budget committee.

Campaign chairman for 1955, R. M. Moore, reported that the average donation in 1955 by contributors was $8.76, while the average on a per capita was only $2.

He said that 27 per cent of all donations are now pledged, a system which results in people giving three times as much. He called on canvassers to organize meetings of employees wherever possible. "Where we can have a meeting of employees, that's where we get results."

Mr. Moore was named first vice-president and Mr. Gladwell second vice-president. R. A. Dykes was returned treasurer.

The following were also named to the 40-man executive for a two-year term:

E. W. Arnott, John McKenzie, J. L. Aubrey, T. L. McMaster, Mrs. Frederick Bliss, A. de B. McPhillips, Alderman A. I. Curtis, R. B. Mathews, Mrs. R. A. Dykes, T. A. Mitchell, E. T. Staley, Mrs. W. W. Findlay, J. A. G. Wallace, S. R. Halton, Allan Leith, a representative of the provincial civil service; Mrs. C. W. Lundy, a representative of the Royal Canadian Navy.

Nominated for a one-year term expiring March, 1957, was a representative of the Teachers' Federation, to be named.

Plan Now For 1958 Church Urged

Early consideration of community and institutional plans for the B.C. centennial celebration in 1958 was urged Monday evening by Lance H. Whittaker, chairman of the community programs subcommittee of the B.C. centennial committee.

Speaking to the Men's Club of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Mr. Whittaker outlined the steps which have been taken to co-ordinate the province-wide celebration and strongly suggested the organization of a committee within St. Andrew's Church to act with, and assist a civic committee.

CHURCH HISTORY

The speaker pointed out that St. Andrew's can be considered the "mother church" of continuing Presbyterians in B.C. and that the centenary celebration might well be a province-wide project, such as a history which would encompass the story of every Presbyterian church in the province.

Recalling some of the early history of St. Andrew's, Mr. Whittaker noted that the Vancouver Daily Province had started publication in 1894 as a weekly in the first St. Andrew's church building at Gordon and Courtney.

Sanity Test Set In Knife Killing

VANCOUVER (CP) — An examination by a psychiatrist was ordered in police court Monday for a Vancouver youth charged with murder in a beer parlor knife-slaying Saturday.

Ronald Clifford Dingham, 18-year-old seaman, was remanded to April 3. He is charged in connection with the death of Raymond Thomas Edouard Duchateau, 29, a bank clerk.

Duchateau came here from Belgium in August, 1953.

He was fatally wounded Saturday in a downtown beer parlor when a stranger walked up to him and plunged a knife into his chest. Witnesses said there was no apparent reason for the assault.

Duchateau didn't even know he was hurt. He laughed when friends asked him what happened.

"It is nothing," he said, and collapsed. He died in hospital 3½ hours later.

Dingham was arrested while sipping tea at his home a few hours later on a tip from taxi driver Joe Petek.

Petek told police he picked up a passenger in front of the hotel where Duchateau was slain.

Police said Monday they are convinced Dingham is not the youth sought in connection with a Montreal murder.

The Montreal report quoted the head of that city's homicide squad as saying the description of Dingham fitted that of a suspect wanted in connection with the January killing of Andre Ochsner in Montreal. The 38-year-old Swiss watch importer was smothered in his home after being stabbed.

Readers' Digest Cover Picture Plugs Victoria

It shows Miss Irene Foot, now on the staff of Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau, picking daffodils in the park.

"Last year the Digest published a picture of Stanley Park, Vancouver, as a Victoria attraction," Publicity Commissioner George Warren said today. "I thanked them for the publicity but pointed out the error.

"They have now put the matter right."

U.S. Seizes Communist Property

'Worker' Grabbed For Back Taxes

NEW YORK (AP)—U.S. Treasury agents swooped down on Communist property across the United States today and seized it for alleged tax delinquency.

Alan Max, managing editor of The Daily Worker, said U.S. treasury agents ordered the headquarters and the newspaper plant emptied.

He said the agents told him the newspaper would not be published Wednesday.

The agents and New York policemen entered the newspaper's office at 1 p.m. and "told us we were being evicted," Max said.

He said agents had taken similar action in Detroit and Chicago offices where weekly regional editions of The Daily Worker are prepared. The regional editions ordinarily are published on Sundays.

New Report Investigated In Jet Hunt

CAMPBELL RIVER—Checks are being made today on reports that a jet aircraft was seen Thursday over Desolation sound, heading northeast to Homfray channel and Mount Grazebrooke, 22 to 25 miles northeast of Cortes island.

Cortes island, 15 miles east of Campbell River, has been the scene of a search since Thursday noon for an RCAF jet training aircraft missing from Comox air base. (See earlier story, page 14.)

RUSSIANS UNVEIL NEW ARMS-CUT PLAN

LONDON (AP) — Russia today offered a new disarmament plan which Western observers said appears to be a "serious" contribution to the quest for East-West disarmament agreement.

They added that the long and thorough plan did not look like "a propaganda ruse." Its terms were not disclosed, however.

Reuters reported that Russia "astonished the Western powers" by putting forward a plan concerned only with the reduction of "conventional" armaments and containing no proposals for the elimination of atomic weapons.

Russians Stall Mid-East Plan

Combine With Arabs to Block Peace Try by Security Council

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP) — A Russian-Arab power play today hamstrung the United Nations Security Council's efforts to head off a Middle East war.

Russia effectively blocked a United States proposal for immediate action by the security council, and an Arab spokesman said a move would be made to transfer the whole problem to the general assembly.

A dispatch from Damascus quoted Syrian Premier Said Al Gazzi as saying Syria "opposed the U.S. resolution . . . and demands the American proposal be laid before the United Nations General Assembly for debating and voting."

WAR THREAT

Gazzi warned further that any foreign military intervention in the Middle East would lead to "war probably exceeding Middle East boundaries."

The council disregarded a warning from U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., Monday that the Palestine situation "has never been more serious."

It adjourned until Wednesday with a stipulation demanded by Russia that a vote to authorize a trip by Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold to the Middle East would not be taken at least until next Tuesday.

Hammarskjold had planned to leave April 2 if the council had approved the American resolution. Lodge deplored the delay.

Israel's Arab neighbors—Egypt, Syria, Jordan and Lebanon—made it clear that they had sought a delay.

Representatives of Israel and the four Arab nations were invited to attend the council debate Monday but were not asked to speak. The delaying action was left to Russia's Arkady A Sobolev.

Anti-Stalin Policy Upheld By Mikoyan

NEW DELHI (AP) — A. I. Mikoyan, deputy premier of the Soviet Union, asserted today that the present Soviet regime's criticism of Stalin will strengthen the Soviet Communist party and assure its future success.

Mikoyan made the statement to newspaper men at a Soviet embassy reception in his honor. He is visiting India to confer with Prime Minister Nehru and other government officials.

He said there is no intention by the Soviet regime to revise its judgment of Leon Trotsky, who was denounced as a traitor and was murdered in exile. Some sources have speculated that the current denunciations of Stalin, his arch rival in the 1920s, would result in a rehabilitation of Trotsky as a Soviet hero.

He conceded there had been opposition within his country after he and party secretary Nikita Khrushchev criticized Stalin at the Communist party congress in Moscow last month.

"However," he added, "there was no unrest. Some there just took it hard. But the great mass accepted it."

NORTH AMERICAN TALKS START

Canada Offers New Plan To Check on Soviet Aid

EISENHOWER — ST. LAURENT — RUIZ CORTINES

. . . "Good Neighbor" Conference, first in North American history, brought together today the leaders of U.S., Canada and Mexico to "swap ideas" on hemispheric and world affairs.

Exchange Full Data On What Being Done Pearson Proposes

By GEORGE KITCHEN, Canadian Press Staff Writer

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W.Va. (CP)—Canada proposed today that the Western world consider exchanging with the Soviet Union "blueprints" of economic aid to underprivileged countries.

External Affairs Minister Pearson made this suggestion at the first session of the continental conference among the heads of government of Canada, the United States and Mexico and suggested it would provide more effective economic aid and, perhaps, call the Soviet "bluff" that it was prepared to provide assistance to India and other countries.

A conference spokesman said the Pearson proposal would be, in a sense, an extension of the U.S. offer to exchange military "blueprints" with Russia as a means of achieving disarmament. In this case, foreign aid proposals would be exchanged, though not with any idea of setting up a joint West-East program.

The Soviets would be told, in effect, "to put up or shut up," R. A. Farquharson, counsellor at the Canadian embassy in Washington, informed a press briefing.

NO SPECIFIC REACTION

There was no specific reaction from the American and Mexican delegations at the three - power meeting, headed by President Eisenhower, Prime Minister St. Laurent and President Adolph Ruiz Cortines. The three chiefs of state are accompanied by their foreign secretaries and other advisers.

White House press secretary James Hagerty said the general underlying sense of the session was that the three North American neighbors must work together in offering moral and economic assistance to newer countries, such as India, Pakistan and Indonesia, who just now were getting on their own feet as independent nations. Otherwise, they would leave the way open for the Communists to move in.

Eisenhower and State Secretary Dulles suggested that smaller nations, such as Canada and Mexico, are in a better position to assist newer nations since a big power like the United States often is suspected of having motives when it offers aid.

REPORTS ON FAR EAST

The two - hour session included a general review of the world situation, with Dulles giving a report of his recent visit to the Far East.

When the meeting broke up, the three leaders went into luncheon with their foreign ministers.

Eisenhower meets separately this afternoon with the Canadian leader and Ruiz Cortines. Any continental problems in the minds of the three heads of government are expected to come up in those sessions.

Tonight, Eisenhower will entertain the full delegations of Canada and Mexico at dinner, the last formal meeting before the three leaders return to their respective capitals Wednesday morning.

HOLD WARMUP

The three leaders arrived here Monday and had a warmup get-together in the evening at dinner in Eisenhower's quarters. In its informal, relaxed atmosphere, Eisenhower was in a reminiscent mood and carried the conversational ball, telling stories of his wartime experiences. Informal toasts were exchanged.

It was the first time the Canadian leader and Ruiz Cortines had met.

The guest list included State Secretary Dulles, External Affairs Minister Pearson and Foreign Minister Luis Padilla Nervo of Mexico and other members of the delegations of the three countries.

With officials insisting the conference is designed solely to enable the three leaders to get to know one another better, the nearly 200 newspaper men gathered here for the parley were hard put to find a "sleeper" in the reasons for it. There is no formal agenda.

MID-EAST QUESTION

The Canadian viewpoint is that the meetings gives the Canadians and Mexicans an excellent opportunity to obtain from Eisenhower and Dulles a first-hand run-down of American opinion and American policy on outstanding world problems.

Canada is particularly interested in the U.S. view on the possibility of working out a political settlement in the troubled Middle East. The Canadians also would like to know how Eisenhower and Dulles feel about bringing Russia into such a settlement.

The prime minister is understood to have come here well briefed by his cabinet heads on any problem that might arise during the discussions, but has no specific questions to bring up.

IRKS DOCTORS

Mrs. Lydia Arsens today came under the fire of Canadian Medical Association's B.C. president, Dr. E. W. Boak. The Victoria surgeon flatly denied statements made in Vancouver by the city Socred MLA. Mrs. Arsens said some doctors accept her "cancer cure"—but are afraid to say so publicly because they "must take orders from the top (American Medical Association)—or lose their certificates. Saanich Gravel Pit Lacked Supervision, Probers Find

A special investigating committee reported to Saanich council Monday there was "ample evidence" of the lack of supervisory control in the operation of a municipal-owned gravel pit on Sayward Road.

The committee appointed by the council to investigate charges of maladministration in the operation of the excavation said the municipality failed to "keep accurate records" of gravel transactions.

In some cases, the committee reported there were no records kept of any gravel dug from the pit and sold to outside persons and firms.

The committee, however, reported there was "no evidence of unlawful removal of gravel from the pit."

Commenting on the committee's report, Reeve Arthur Ash said Saanich will never know whether there was gravel taken from the pit unlawfully because there were no records to show the amount of gravel taken from the excavation.

The committee blamed the existence of a system of gentlemen's agreement for the lack of proper control over pit operations.

This system of gentlemen's agreement was carried on between the municipality and outside firms, including the provincial government, the report said.

The committee's report brought to an end a stormy controversy over the operation of the gravel pit, started last November by Robert Fleming, a former Saanich councillor, who charged mismanagement in the operation of the pit.

Mr. Fleming resigned his office as councillor because the old council refused to take steps to institute a business-like method of managing the pit operation.

Mr. Fleming said today he was satisfied with the committee's report.

"It substantiates my claim there was lack of control in the operation of the pit," he said.

Mr. Fleming said he estimated that around 200,000 yards of gravel taken from the pit was

NEW HIGH AT TORONTO FOR INDUSTRIAL SHARES

Paced by spectacular gains in high-priced issues the industrial index hit an all-time high of 479.71 near the close of today's Toronto stock market session. This was a gain of 2.63 on the previous close.

But profit-taking in the last hour dropped the index back to 478.57, up 1.49 on the day.

Other sections also showed gains. Western oils were at about their highest value in four years, and uraniums and coppers were in demand.

Best gains in industrials were MacLaren, up $10 at $100; Stelco, up $6 at $79; Supertest common, up $7.25 at $50, and International Paper, ahead $4.50 at $1.29.

Details of activities in all markets are on Page 10.

DONATION SOUGHT

Government Help Asked for Big Swim

The provincial government will be asked to make a donation toward swim attempts on the Strait of Juan de Fuca this summer.

This decision was reached Monday by the swim committee of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, which started a campaign among city businessmen today to raise $15,000 to attract the world's top swimmers.

The chamber wants a "gala splash" mass swim on the strait, or a match race between Cliff Lumsdon, Canada's champion marathon swimmer, and Bert Thomas, only man to beat the turbulent waters between here and Port Angeles.

MONEY QUESTION

Cliff Lumsdon told The Times from New Toronto today: "Favorably inclined toward match race only with Thomas providing amount (of money) is stipulated and guaranteed."

He's willing to come providing the swim date, tentatively set for the last two weeks of August or first two weeks in September, doesn't conflict with the Atlantic City swim July 25. He wants at least two weeks between attempts.

BILL DAVISON . . . asks government swim help

SHOW SINCERITY

Chamber swim committee chairman Bill Davison at Monday's meeting asked the provincial government to "show its sincerity" following statements by Premier Bennett that he would like to spend $10,000,000 on Victoria for beautification and publicity.

Chamber president Stickney Harris termed the pending move "an excellent opportunity" for the government to implement the premier's plan.

Next move by the Jaycees will be to approach Lumsdon's coach, Gus Ryder, and ask what is wanted as a guarantee. Ryder said earlier in Toronto a minimum of $10,000 would be asked before Lumsdon came out here.

The swim committee of the chamber has written the London Daily Mail asking methods that paper uses in sponsoring English Channel swims.

According to present Jaycee plans, solo swimmers will get exercise only out of strait attempts. There'll be no money for them under chamber sponsorship. Envisioned is either a match race between Thomas and Lumsdon, or a mass swim attempt by all interested parties.

Apartheid Vital Says Commission

CAPETOWN (Reuters) — A government-appointed commission reported to Parliament today that South Africa must strive for the separate development of white and native communities to eliminate the possibility of racial conflict and to maintain racial harmony.

The commission, reporting after five years' study of the development of African areas within South Africa, said the only obvious way out of the dilemma facing the country lies in the sustained development of African areas on a large scale.

It was convinced there was no middle way between ultimate total integration and ultimate separate development of the two groups.

THEN ONE of the 12, called Judas Iscariot, went unto the chief priests, and said unto them, what will ye give me, and I will deliver him unto you? And they covenanted with him for 30 pieces of silver.—Mat. 26: 14-15.

PRAYER FOR TODAY

O GOD, search our inmost thoughts in the light of Thy mind and will. In times of weakness hold us to our highest and best. Face our consciences with the beauty and appeal of Christ, who trod fearlessly for us. Amen.

23 PASSENGERS BANGED ABOUT

British Airliner Dives to Miss Jet

LONDON (UP)—Nearly half the 23 persons aboard were injured today when an airliner was forced to dive violently to avoid an air collision with a jet fighter.

The sharp dive sent the unbelted passengers soaring out of their seats. They banged against windows and ceiling like chaff in a wind. But none suffered anything more serious than minor cuts and bruises.

They were saved from death by the abrupt dive made by the pilot, Capt. F. Jenkinson.

A British European Airways spokesman said Jenkinson was flying the twin-engined Elizabethan airliner at a height of 9,500 feet over Daventry in Warwickshire when he saw a RAF Vampire jet "right on top of him."

"Jenkinson took immediate evasive action," the spokesman said. "He shot the nose down. It was a very near miss."

The shocked and shaken passengers got back into their seats and Jenkinson landed the undamaged airliner safely at London airport.

There were six crew members, in addition to the 23 passengers, aboard on the flight from Belfast to London.

One passenger, W. Lennox, said: "The jet couldn't have missed us by very much. I thought we had grazed it. My knees are still shaking."

Tom Hewlitt, another passenger, echoed this view.

"We were all scared," he said.

The BEA spokesman said Jenkinson thought the encounter was an accidental brush, and did not think the RAF jet was buzzing the airliner. However, the air ministry investigated the incident.

SEES RABBIE'S BIRTHPLACE

Georgi Sings Auld Lang Syne On Long-Awaited Visit to Ayr

GLASGOW (Reuters) — Russia's Georgi Malenkov, travelling the high roads and low roads of Scotland at speeds up to 70 miles an hour, snatched time today to realize a life-long ambition and visit the birthplace of poet Robert Burns.

His pilgrimage to the humble cottage where Scotland's warm-hearted bard was born in 1759 was no mere gesture.

Malenkov quoted Burns in Russian, listened to long quotations in lilting Gaelic, and then joined hands with thatchers who had been repairing the roof to sing a verse of the classic Auld Lang Syne.

The Russia's minister of power stations raced off by car to catch up with his official program.

Wednesday he leaves the delegation of electrical experts which he has been leading through Britain for almost two weeks, and returns to London. He has offered no reason for cutting short his scheduled tour by a week.

"This is one of my life's ambitions fulfilled," he said today when he arrived at the little cottage where Burns slept as a boy in what amounted to a hole in the wall.

When he left, he pointed to a television aerial above the cottage museum and said: "I wonder what Rabbie would have thought of that."

As Mrs. Arsens sez, we should end our illnesses by natural means. An' whut ends 'em better an' more naturally than dyin'?

Glad thet gravel pit investigation left no stone unturned.

Public Excluded From Zoning Talks

City council, by a 4-3 vote, excluded the press and public this afternoon from what was expected to be final deliberations on the proposed zoning by-law.

It was the first time such action had been taken by a council committee this year.

The decision sprang from a motion by Alderman M. H. Mooney who said: "An alderman should be able to discuss it (by-law) without being criticized. This thing has been pounded around a lot."

Retail Merchants' Association pleaded guilty to the same conspiracy and the same fine was imposed.

U.S. Seizes Communist Property

'Worker' Grabbed For Back Taxes

NEW YORK (AP)—U.S. Treasury agents swooped down on Communist property across the United States today and seized it for alleged tax delinquency.

The agents acted simultaneously in a number of cities.

In New York, they took over Communist party headquarters and the plant of the party newspaper, The Daily Worker, a treasury spokesman said.

The agents struck also in Philadelphia, Detroit and Chicago.

The action was requested here by Donald Moysey, director of internal revenue for the Lower Manhattan district. He said the party's taxes are owed in this district because the party's national headquarters are here.

He said he did not know immediately the total over-all tax delinquency.

EISENHOWER ST. LAURENT RUIZ CORTINES

. . ."Good Neighbor" Conference, first in North American history, brought together today the leaders of U.S., Canada and Mexico to "swap ideas" on hemispheric and world affairs at informal "family get-together."

Canada Asks Red Bluff Of Economic Aid Called

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W.Va. (CP)—Canada proposed today that the Western world consider exchanging with the Soviet Union "blueprints" of economic aid to underprivileged countries.

External Affairs Minister Pearson made this suggestion at the first session of the continental conference among the heads of government of Canada, the United States and Mexico and suggested it would provide more effective economic aid and, perhaps, call the Soviet "bluff" that it was prepared to provide assistance to India and other countries.

A conference spokesman said the Pearson proposal would be, in a sense, an extension of the U.S. offer to exchange military "blueprints" with Russia as a means of achieving disarmament. In this case, foreign aid proposals would be exchanged, though not with any idea of setting up a joint West-East program.

The Soviets would be told, in effect, "to put up or shut up," R. A. Farquharson, counsellor at the Canadian embassy in Washington, informed a press briefing.

There was no specific reaction from the American and Mexican delegations at the three - power meeting, headed by President Eisenhower, Prime Minister St. Laurent and President Adolph Ruiz Cortines. The three chiefs of state are accompanied by their foreign secretaries and other advisers.

White House press secretary James Hagerty said the general underlying sense of the session was that the three North American neighbors must work together in offering moral and economic assistance to newer countries, such as India, Pakistan and Indonesia, who just now were getting on their own feet as independent nations. Otherwise, they would leave the way open for the Communists to move in.

Eisenhower and State Secretary Dulles suggested that smaller nations, such as Canada and Mexico, are in a better position to assist newer nations since a big power like the United States often is suspected of having motives when it offers aid.

The two - hour session included a general review of the world situation, with Dulles giving a report of his recent visit to the Far East.

Russians Stall Mid-East Plan

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP) — A Russian-Arab power play today hamstrung the United Nations Security Council's efforts to head off a Middle East war.

Russia effectively blocked a United States proposal for immediate action by the security council, and an Arab spokesman said a move would be made to transfer the whole problem to the general assembly.

A dispatch from Damascus quoted Syrian Premier Said Al Gazzi as saying Syria "opposed the U.S. resolution . . . and demands the American proposal be laid before the United Nations General Assembly for debating and voting."

WAR THREAT

Gazzi warned further that any foreign military intervention in the Middle East would lead to "war probably exceeding Middle East boundaries."

The council disregarded a warning from U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., Monday that the Palestine situation "has never been more serious."

It adjourned until Wednesday with a stipulation demanded by Russia that a vote to authorize a trip by Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold to the Middle East would not be taken at least until next Tuesday.

Hammarskjold had planned to leave April 2 if the council had approved the American resolution. Lodge deplored the delay.

Israel's Arab neighbors—Egypt, Syria, Jordan and Lebanon—made it clear that they had sought a delay.

Representatives of Israel and the four Arab nations were invited to attend the council debate Monday but were not asked to speak. The delaying action was left to Russia's Arkady A. Sobolev.

23 PASSENGERS BANGED ABOUT

British Airliner Dives to Miss Jet

LONDON (UP)—Nearly half the 23 persons aboard were injured today when an airliner was forced to dive violently to avoid an air collision with a jet fighter.

The sharp dive sent the unbelted passengers soaring out of their seats. They banged against windows and ceiling like chaff in a wind. But none suffered anything more serious than minor cuts and bruises.

They were saved from death by the abrupt dive made by the pilot, Capt. F. Jenkinson.

A British European Airways spokesman said Jenkinson was flying the twin-engined Elizabethan airliner at a height of 9,500 feet over Daventry in Warwickshire when he saw a RAF Vampire jet "right on top of him."

"Jenkinson took immediate evasive action," the spokesman said. "He shot the nose down. It was a very near miss."

The shocked and shaken passengers got back into their seats and Jenkinson landed the undamaged airliner safely at London airport.

There were six crew members, in addition to the 23 passengers, aboard on the flight from Belfast to London.

New Move in Jaycees Campaign to Raise 'Gala Splash' Purse

The provincial government will be asked to make a donation toward swim attempts on the Strait of Juan de Fuca this summer.

This decision was reached Monday by the swim committee of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, which started a campaign among city businessmen today to raise $15,000 to attract the world's top swimmers.

The chamber wants a "gala splash" mass swim on the strait, or a match race between Cliff Lumsdon, Canada's champion marathon swimmer, and Bert Thomas, only man to beat the turbulent waters between here and Port Angeles.

MONEY QUESTION

Cliff Lumsdon told The Times from New Toronto today: "Favorably inclined toward match race only with Thomas providing amount (of money) is stipulated and guaranteed."

He's willing to come providing the swim date, tentatively set for the last two weeks of August or first two weeks in September, doesn't conflict with the Atlantic City swim July 25. He wants at least two weeks between attempts.

Thomas has already accepted the challenge by Lumsdon to a cross-strait race.

Chamber swim committee chairman Bill Davison at Monday's meeting asked the provincial government to "show its sincerity" following statements by Premier Bennett that he would like to spend $10,000,000 on Victoria for beautification and publicity.

Chamber president Stickney Harris termed the pending move "an excellent opportunity" for the government to implement the premier's plan.

Next move by the Jaycees will be to approach Lumsdon's coach, Gus Ryder, and ask what is wanted as a guarantee. Ryder said earlier in Toronto a minimum of $10,000 would be asked before Lumsdon came out here.

The swim committee of the chamber has written the London Daily Mail asking methods that paper uses in sponsoring English Channel swims.

BILL DAVISON . . . asks government swim help

According to present Jaycee plans, solo swimmers will get exercise only out of strait attempts. There'll be no money for them under chamber sponsorship. Envisioned is either a match race between Thomas and Lumsdon, or a mass swim attempt by all interested parties.

Supervision Lack Says Gravel Probe

A special investigating committee reported to Saanich council Monday there was "ample evidence" of the lack of supervisory control in the operation of a municipal-owned gravel pit on Sayward road.

The committee appointed by the council to investigate charges of maladministration in the operation of the excavation said the municipality failed to "keep accurate records" of gravel transactions.

In some cases, the committee reported there were no records kept of any gravel dug from the pit and sold to outside persons and firms.

The committee, however, reported there was "no evidence of unlawful removal of gravel from the pit."

Commenting on the committee's report, Reeve Arthur Ash said Saanich will never know whether there was gravel taken from the pit unlawfully because there were no records to show the amount of gravel taken from the excavation.

The committee blamed the existence of a system of gentlemen's agreement for the lack of proper control over pit operations.

This system of gentlemen's agreement was carried on between the municipality and outside firms, including the provincial government, the report said.

The committee's report brought to an end a stormy controversy over the operation of the gravel pit, started last November by Robert Fleming, a former Saanich councillor, who charged mismanagement in the operation of the pit.

Mr. Fleming resigned his office as councillor because the old council refused to take steps to institute a business-like method of managing the pit operation.

Mr. Fleming said today he was satisfied with the committee's report.

"It substantiates my claim there was lack of control in the operation of the pit," he said.

Mr. Fleming said he estimated that around 200,000 yards of gravel taken from the pit was
